Wainwright Writes About Death March and Then "The Rock"

In today's article by General Jonathan M. Wainwright, which includes 15th and 16th installments of his series, he tells of the raising of the American Flag on Corregidor and the sad story of the unforgettable Bataan Death March, also of a Jap shell which failed to take his life but seriously impaired his hearing.

INSTALLMENT NO. 15

GENERAL GEORGE C. MARSHALL'S message of encouragement to Corregidor came at a time when all needed a lift, not only because of the shelling and outlook but because of a grim bit of symbolism ch thousands of us had witnessed shortly after 3 ock that afternoon of April 18, 1942, when our Flag ame a casualty for a few minutes.

The Flag flew from a 100-foot pole at the highest nt of The Rock. During an intense bombardment m one of the enemy's 240 mm. batteries on the tip of aan a shell fragment struck the pole and cut the yard.

Slowly, terribly, the Flag began to descend down pole as if drawn by some ghostly prophetic hand, l most of those crouching in their batteries and holes ked at it as if it were the very sign of our doom.

But as the Flag came down the pole and neared the und three men raced to the bottom of the shaft in midst of the furious shelling. They were Capt. ester G. Gallup, T-Sgt. Ezra Smith and a Philippine ilian named Honorio Punonybayen.

Brave Men Raise Flag

Simultaneously they gathered in armsful of the fall- Flag just before it touched the ground. Working t and bravely, they repaired the broken halyard, sed the Flag again and ran back to shelter. I gave of them the Silver Star, for what they had done was t only courageous but helped the battered Rock's rale beyond any words.

We were still in there pitching, the Flag seemed to when it regained the top of the pole and stood out skly in the breeze from the bay.

The pace of the shelling and bombing now quickened. If possible, the shelling was worse than the unconted serial attacks. The shelling from Cavite with the g-range 105mm. guns could, by itself, do no great mage to our installations in the bay. But their 240 n. howitzers firing from Bataan were something else. ey made our lives a Hell.

Jap Gunners Have Advantage

The Bataan peninsula is covered with a dense, opical growth whose trees often stand more than 100 et high. Enemy batteries under those trees employed okeless powder and were therefore almost impossible r our range-finders to locate. On the other hand, Jap servation posts atop the 4,700-foot Mariveles mountins near the tip of Bataan, as well as Jap observation lloons and prowling aircraft, made it easy for their nners to correct their fire on our batteries and other tical targets.

It was a disheartenigly unequal artillery fight, ade more unequal by the fact that our batteries were de almost perpetual attack by enemy bombers. Some the Jap planes were dropping bombs as heavy as a n, certainly no aid to careful marksmanship on our part.

The shelling never really stopped during the entire -day Battle of Corregidor. Night brought no surase That is a simple sentence which in no way can nvey the terror and the morale-rotting which the Jap llery batteries visited upon us. No place on The Rock as a suitable haven except the inner recesses of Malinta nnel and we could not fight back from the Tunnel, or could it hold more than a fraction of our men and omen.

Four Deadly Jap Shells

Four of their artillery hits stand out especially in memory of those helpless days and nights

One shell hit a Marine company mess while the en were lined up for their meager suppers, killing and ourding 75 of those gallant fighters. Another struck the midst of a group of men on Fort Frank assembled receive an innoculation. The third hit the enlisted en's mess at the west entrance to the Tunnel.

But the one that scored directly on Battery Geary as perhaps the worst. It wiped out not only the guns but also broke up seven of the 12 heavy mortars

REPORT CONFESSION IN OHIO SHOOTING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22—Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett reported today that Louis Holliday, 29, wanted by FBI agents as a bandit from Grand Rapids, Mich., bank robber, confessed the fatal shooting of George Boyer 51, during an attempted gasoline station holdup.

The prosecutor said the confession followed discovery of a gun in a junk yard where Holliday admitted hiding it after shooting a week ago. Bartlett said that first degree murder charges would be filed against Holliday.

FBI agents said Holliday previously admitted robbing a branch of the Peoples National Bank in Grand Rapids last May 28 of $2,000.

Bartlett also reported that Richard A. Butterfield, 25, had admitted driving a stolen car to the holdup scene for Holliday's getaway. Butterfield was quoted as saying he became frightened by the shooting and drove away alone. The prosecutor said murder charges also would be lodged against Butterfield.

FBI agents said Butterfield was wanted at Quincy, Ill., on a charge of attempting to operate a gambling device. Chief Deputy Sheriff Joseph Cole, chief of the Grand Rapids bureau of identification, said Butterfield had a long police record.

JUNTA CABINET MAPS REFORMS FOR VENEZUELA

Revolutionists Say Resistance Virtually Ended; Ex-Columnist New President.

By The Associated Press

CARACAS, Oct. 22—A cabinet pledged to democratic ideals took over the reins in oil-rich Venezuela today under sponsorship of a revolutionary junta which stamped out all important resistance to its coup d'etat in a tumultuous week-end of armed conflict.

Romulo Betancourt, 37, a former newspaper columnist, assumed the dual role of president and minister of the interior with a pledge that his government had assumed power only to provide Venezuela with "free, direct universal suffrage by secret ballot."

Betancourt promised Venezuela would take an energetic part in preserving hemispheric unity.

"We want to be good neighbors not only on Pan-American day, with flowery words and phrases, but in deeds as well," he said.

Former Communist

The new president, a one-time communist who later renounced the party, announced that his government would respect the rights of foreigners and their investments

He installed a cabinet dominated by the Democratic Action party, which is considered left of center Members included:

Minister of Education—Dr Luis Beltran, Democratic Action

Minister of Sanitation and Social Assistance—Dr. Edmundo Fernander, Independent.

Minister of Interior—Betancourt, Democratic Action

Minister of Foreign Relations—Dr. Carlos Morales, Independent.

Minister of Labor—Dr Raoul Leoni, Democratic Action

Minister of the Treasury—Dr. Carlos Delcoll, Democratic Action

Minister of War and Navy—Maj. Carlos Delgado Chalbaub, Army.

The last major opposition to the new regime ended yesterday as the Andean states of Tachira, Merida and Trujillo swung over to the rebels Resistance also ceased in the mountainous state of Zulia, whose oil fields are the basis of Venezuela's economic life Fight-

French Voters Favor de Gaulle

General Overwhelming Victor in First Election in 9 Years.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 22—France's first general election in nine years placed an almost unqualified stamp of approval today on General de Gaulle's plans to found a Fourth republic on a new constitution drafted by the people's chosen representatives

Figures announced by the ministry of the interior this morning, 12 hours after the closing of the polls, showed de Gaulle had won an overwhelming victory in a two-pronged election which decided that:

(1)—A constituent assembly—designated at yesterday's election—will draft a new constitution rather than attempt to rebuild the government on the 1885 document which was the foundation of the Third republic

(2)—The executive power will be vested in a provisional government during the seven months the assembly sits rather than in the assembly itself

With approximately half of the ballots counted, the first issue was carried by a margin of 10,694,197 votes to 729,409—a 96 per cent affirmative majority, according to the official figures.

For establishment of an interim government, the interior ministry said, the vote so far was 7,445,129 to 3,660,441 against—a 65 per cent majority.

The election witnessed the

38 SEIZED IN LIQUOR RAIDS

State Officers and Local Police Visit Five Houses in Western Section of City.

Thirty-eight men and women were arrested in liquor raids starting shortly after midnight Saturday. The officers visited seperate houses where intoxicating liquor was being sold, Chief William E. Marks said today All those arrested were Negroes.

Groundwork for the raids had been laid during the past two weeks when state liquor agents made purchases at the various places then obtained search warrants. Six state representatives assisted by 18 Marion police arrested the raids shortly after midnight Saturday, Chief Marks said, and charges were filed on all those arrested at approximately 3 a m.

Houses included in the raid were at 267 Niles street, 262 Senate street, 588 Grant street, 250 Senate street and 261 Niles.

Chief Marks said there was no trouble once the actual arrests were under way. Seven of the Negroes taken into custody are charged with possession of liquor for sale, one for possession of untaxed whisky. The others who were in the various places at the time police and state investigators entered were charged mainly with disorderly conduct.

State Officers Make Buys

The Marion police suspected the illegal sales for some time, Chief Marks stated, but since most of the local officers were known there could be no real evidence obtained on which to file charges The state men were called in and they made the purchases which gave police the necessary material for obtaining search warrants These were made out Saturday and after midnight the actual arrests started.

The first place entered was at 267 Niles street at 12 38 a m Sunday Those arrested are as follows with names and addresses listed as given to police, together with the charge against them

James Williams, 37, 672 Hocking street, disorderly conduct, John Merry (Murray) 34, of Lima, disorderly conduct, William Ellington, 39, 269 Niles, intoxication and disorderly conduct; Chris Waldon, 32, Lima, disorderly conduct, Earl Dean, 39, Mt. STRIKE SCENE BRIGHTENS AS MINERS RETURN

Total Now 217,400; Glass Workers and Canton Steel Employes Off Jobs.

By The Associated Press

The nation's strike total was cut almost in half today, despite a looming 10-city walkout of glass workers, as some 216,000 coal miners streamed back to the pits on orders of their union chief, John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers.

Returns and new disputes left the total idle in labor disputes at 217,400, and, barring any fresh walkouts, that figure was slated to drop another 16,700 during the week with the return of laid-off steel workers who had been forced into idleness when the coal shutdown deprived blast furnaces of fuel.

General Situation

This was the general situation

Returning to work: A total of 228,800 composed, excluding the coal miners, of 3,000 at General Motors' Packard Electrical plant at Warren, Ohio; 5,000 AFL ship repairmen in the Los Angeles area, 1,500 at the General Electric X-Ray Corp., in Chicago; another 1,400 at the Revere Copper and Brass Co., Chicago, 2,000 Michigan utility workers, and 1,500 at Seiberling Rubber Co., Barberton, O

Off their jobs or due to leave: 15,000 glass workers in 10 cities, 5,000 steel workers idle as a result of a walkout of 144 transport workers at Republic Steel's Canton alloy division, Canton, O., and 1,500 Western Electric employes, Kearny, N. J.

Still idle: 61,700 northwest lumber and sawmill operators, 2,700 bus drivers, 7,000 movietheatre, 2,200 cotton and textile employes and 2,500 AFL Gulf coast longshoremen with the balance of the national totals made up in strikes ranging from 25 persons upward.

Future rumblings: 30,000 CIO west coast longshoremen demanded "living cost" increase in pay, and set Oct. 29 as a strike date

Steel production, hard hit by the fuel shortage, began to swing upward as coal moved toward the furnaces again A week was expected to elapse before the laid off workers could be recalled in full strength

One of the largest new threats against labor peace came with the announcement by a spokesman for the CIO Federation of Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers unionists would leave their jobs today He said a breakdown in contract negotiations was the immediate cause

Hits Ohio Cities

Lewis McCracken, federation secretary and treasurer, said the strike would hit the following cities Toledo and Mount Vernon, O., Ford City and Creighton, Pa., Clarksburg and Charleston, W. Va., Ottowa, Ill; Crystal City, Mo., Henrietta, Okla and Shreveport, La Companies involved are the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co and the Libbey-Owens-Ford Co

The CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union injected another dissident note with its demand for a cost of living wage increase for 30,000 members on the west coast

An interim increase of 25 cents an hour and 37½ cents an hour overtime also was sought pending new contract negotiations

The strike of AFL ship repairmen, which began Oct. 12 in a dispute over application of a 11.6 per cent increase awarded ship repairers above rates paid for new ship construction, was settled. But

College To Receive $250,000 from Estate of S. E. Barlow

Bequest To Otterbein Will Be Used To Build Dormitory To Be Known as Barlow Hall.

Otterbein college at Westerville, O., will receive approximately $250,000 from the estate of the late Shauck E Barlow of Marion, J Gordon Howard, president of the college announced today at Westerville

The college will receive the bequest by virtue of being named residuary legatee of the estate in the will left by Mr Barlow A clause in the will left to the college any money remaining after numerous other bequests to individuals and religious, educational and welfare institutions had been filled.

The estate was appraised at $1,039,000, records in probate court here show. For many years Mr Barlow was president of the Huber Manufacturing Co

President Howard said today the funds from the estate will be used to build a new dormitory for women to be known as Barlow Hall in honor of the donor

Centennial Program Under Way

The Barlow bequest goes to Otterbein at a time when the college is engaged in a centennial program to raise $750,000 for a development and other improvements. The Barlow bequest and the centennial campaign funds will enable the college to begin its second century in 1947 with a splendid physical plant and assets of over $3,000,000, President Howard said

In addition to being residuary legatee the Barlow will also bequeathed Otterbein $5,000 for addition to the college's student aid fund

Other Philanthropic Bequests

This was one of numerous specific bequests to religious, welfare and educational institutions.

Others included:

United Brethren church of Marion, $10,000 First Presbyterian church of Marion, $5,000, Lee Street Presbyterian church of Marion, $5,000 Forest Lawn Presbyterian church of Marion, $1,000; Marion Salvation Army, $5,000 The Barlow residence on East Center street was bequeathed to the Marion County Federated clubs for use as a club home A business block on West Center street was left to the Y M C A with the stipulation that two-thirds of the income from the property go to the Y and the remaining one-third to the Marion Boy Scout council.

Attended Otterbein

Mr Barlow's deep interest in Otterbein college stemmed from the fact he once attended the college and that his father was a United Brethren minister, the denomination that operates the Westerville institution.

Mr. Barlow graduated from Fostoria academy and attended Otterbein in 1876. He withdrew from the college to take a job at a day laborer with the Baker Co. here. Eventually he became president of the piano concern, holding the position for many years. He died in August, 1921.

Galion Plant Honored with Army-Navy "E"

Award of the Army-Navy "E" to the Perfection Steel Body Co. of Galion was announced today from the headquarters of the Cleveland Ordnance district. Besides a number of similar awards in Cleveland 50 northern Ohio plants were honored for outstanding records in the production of war materials.

The presentation of the new awards will end the "E" program in the Cleveland district, the Associated Press reported today in a dispatch from Cleveland.

NAVAL LEADER OPPOSES PLAN AS "UNSOUND"

Secretary Offers Substitute Proposal to Congress; Army Favors United Command.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal today declared the proposed merger of the War and Navy Department is "revolutionary" and "unsound"

Opposing the War Department, the Navy cabinet head offered the senate military affairs committee a substitute postwar plan for the armed forces

The Navy plan called for continuation of present War and Navy departments and creation of a national security council. This would be composed of the present secretaries of state, war, and navy with the chairman of a proposed National Security Resources board as fourth member.

The President of the United States would preside as commander-in-chief.

Backers of the merger count on President Truman throwing his weight behind the idea.

Chairman Hill (D-Ala) recalled in a discussion with reporters Mr. Truman publicly championed unification of the armed services when he was a senator.

Senator Austin (R-Vt), who is backing the unification bill sponsored by Hill, had the same recollection of Mr. Truman's stand.

Forrestal told the committee those who favor a merger have overlooked the need for close relationship of diplomatic matters under the state department and plans for national defense. He called this an "erroneous approach to the fragment of the intricate and complex problems that confront us."

Navy's Plans

The Navy secretary said his plans also would involve:

1. Continuation of the wartime joint chiefs of staff composed of top leaders of army, air and sea forces

2 Creation of a military board to set policy on procurement and logistics

3 Establishment of the new national security resources board to keep active all plans for industrial and civilian mobilization

4 Creation of a central intelligence agency

Hitting the merger proposal, Forrestal said it would:

1 Concentrate too much power in one secretary.

2 Handicap congress' attempt to learn necessary details for legislation and appropriations

3 Not bring "efficiency or economy"

4 Eliminate present "healthy competition"

Cites German Failure

Germany's failure in the recent war was cited today by Forrestal as an argument against merging the War and Navy departments.

The civilian Navy head told the senate military affairs committee that Germany had complete unification of its armed forces—air, land and sea—as he outlined his opposition to postwar unification proposals previously supported by the War Department and its generals.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), acting chairman of the military committee which is considering Forrestal's testimony, said Forrestal's "argument is sound" with the plan but the only headed by the senior unification proponent, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), was the Navy proposal, which was never passed, meaning

"The world now has a number of examples of proof that unification of armed forces is necessary. We are now going ahead with plans for unification and consolidation and integration of the armed forces. Further study of the proposals will be made by the committee. Those to CONGRESS, Page 8)

Jobs and Progress Indorsements Mount

Indorsements of the Jobs and Progress drive, which opens on the Marion area Monday, continued to mount today as the campaign for $250,000 to finance the program of community development and expansion entered its second day.

BUCKEYES, UPSET BY PURDUE 35-13, GET READY FOR GOPHERS

Ohio State May Be Due for Another Jolt Saturday at Minneapolis.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Despite their fall from the unbeaten ranks, Ohio State's Buckeyes and Georgia Bulldogs will command plenty of attention Saturday when they oppose all-conquering Minnesota and Alabama in two of the best games of the week-end program.

Ohio State's 35-13 defeat by Purdue Saturday was the biggest upset of the season. Cecil Isbell fielded a hard-charging line that operated magnificently in front of the passing and catching battery of Bob DeMoss and Bill Canfield. The Buckeyes didn't even score until the final period as the Boilermakers' front line gave Ohio's star backs, Paul Sarringhaus and Dick Fisher, a rugged afternoon.

Another Tough One

The Buckeyes, who ran up 12 straight victories over a two-year span until they met Purdue, appear in for another licking from Minnesota. Bernie Bierman's Gophers surprised a homecoming throng of 56,000 at Minneapolis by taking to the air to wallop Northwestern 20-7. With Vic Kulbitski back in his fullback spot the Gophers also showed plenty of power on the ground, rolling up 277 yards rushing.

Georgia's 32-0 trouncing by Louisiana State was almost as stunning as Ohio State's loss. The Bulldogs had Charley Trippi back in action but the army veteran couldn't move against a stubborn Tiger line. L. S. U. had been beaten 26-7 by Alabama and the Crimson Tide's stock rose sharply. On its own hook, Alabama handed Tennessee its first defeat of the campaign by a 25-7 count.

Maryland was the only other major undefeated college team to topple, Virginia Tech staging the 21-13 surprise party.

The nation's top trio, Army, Navy and Notre Dame, maintained their forward march although Navy took quite a battering and needed the breaks to derail the Engineers from Georgia Tech 20-6. The Middies meet the rested, all-winning Pennsylvania combination.

Army had first period jitters against the Melville Torpedo Boat Raiders but Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard quickly took care of the situation with three touchdowns apiece for a 55-13 triumph. Notre Dame received spirited first half opposition from a pepped up Pittsburgh eleven and called on Frankie Dancewicz to unlimber his pitching arm for the 39-9 conquest.

Army shouldn't have too much trouble against Duke in New York while Hughie Devore probably will clear the bench against Iowa.

Other all-winning teams and their Saturday's victims included:

East—Columbia, 31-7 over Colgate; Holy Cross, 25-0 over Brown; Temple, 28-12 over West Virginia Friday night.

South—Mississippi State, 19-6 over Eastern Flying Training center Eagles. (Virginia was idle.)

Midwest—Indiana 52-20 over Iowa; Tulsa, 40-0 over Nevada, Oklahoma A. & M., 46-6 over Utah.

Southwest—Texas, 34-7 over Utah.

Far West—St Mary's, 58-0 over McClellan Field.

Columbus Gloomy After Big Let-Down

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22—That smoke pall that hangs over Columbus so much of the time wasn't nearly as thick today as the football gloom around Broad and High streets.

The Bucks of Ohio State have been licked—but good—after winning 12 games in a row.

It was Purdue's Boilermakers, almost completely overlooked on the pre-season Big Ten dope sheets that took the Ohioans apart Saturday afternoon and declined to put them back together again.

You had to see it to believe that any team could so completely dominate the Ohio aggregation that has been running roughshod over all foes since the last game of the 1943 season.

The scoreboard eventually showed Purdue 35, Ohio State 13 but the Bucks didn't score a point until the final period and when they finally hit pay dirt the count was 28 to 0 against them.

When the show was all over Coach Carroll Widdoes remarked philosophically: "It had to come some time but you don't feel very good getting it out there—especially when you get a pasting like that."

WATERFIELD PACES RAMS TO VICTORY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 22—It's going to take a lot of convincing before anybody will concede that Cleveland's Bob Waterfield isn't the prize rookie of the year in this zany National Football league season.

The 191-pound, former U.C.L.A. player isn't at the top of the league in passing, but his team is in first place—and primarily because of his accurate pitches and kicking. He proved yesterday, when the chips really were down, that he'll be a T-formation quarterback to contend with for some time as he led Cleveland to a 41-21 victory over the Chicago Bears.

He had comfortable lead going into the third quarter, saw that vanish as the Bears ripped big holes in the Rams' forward wall to take 21-20 lead, and then he came back to rack up three more touchdowns, all of them the direct result of his pitching.

But while that was happening, the rest of the league went wild, too. Burst Warren, 175-pound Philadelphia Eagle discard, ran and passed Pittsburgh to a surprising 21-7 victory over the New York Gaints. Boston's previously unbeaten Yanks were dumped by Green Bay, 38-14. Washington's Redskins settled one phase of the eastern division struggle by beating Philadelphia, 24-14, and Detroit stayed in the running for the western division crown by handing the Chicago Cardinals a 26-0 setback.

WINS WALKING TITLE

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 22—William Mihalo of Detroit was the new 40-kilometer national AAU walking champion today. Mihalo, representing the Thompson Products Co. A. C., walked the 24-mile course in three hours, 57 minutes and five seconds here yesterday, to slice eight minutes and 55 seconds off the old record.

COACH NOT TO RETURN

West Virginia Dog Wins No. 1 Spot In Ohio Field Trials

By The Associated Press

JACKSON, O., Oct. 22—Anna Pearl, fox-pound owned by J. H. Depue of Spencer, W. Va., today wore a new canine crown—that of No. 1 champ of the all-age group of the 26th annual Ohio State Foxhunters association dog trials here.

The four-day event, which ended yesterday, featured a field of 181 entries for the all-age show.

Depue's Blaze took fifth place among the first best 10 dogs and his Lady Belle was tenth.

The second winner of the high-scoring 10 was Buzzard Slave, owned by F. Davis of Beaver, O.

Others of the 10 best were third, Tough Branham, owned by Hugh May of Cosnocton; fourth, Anna May, owned by George Lamm of Sciotoville; sixth, Sun Dial Limmie, owned by Ben Dial of Wellston; seventh, Renna, owned by Jack Stockham of Friendship, Ohio; eighth, Dixie Joe Heels, owned by E. J. Parsons of Dunbar, W. Va., and ninth, Sir Robert, owned by Hugh May, Cosnocton.

Marion County Streams Restocked with Frogs

Some 14,000 Louisiana bullfrog tadpoles sent here from the state hatchery at Lake St. Mary's, O., were used Friday to restock the Scioto river near New Bloomington and the Olentangy river near Kings Mills, southeast of Marion.

The restocking, done annually by the Marion County Fish and Game association, was under the supervision of Jack Frost and Ralph Bond, members of the association committee.

The club also announced that a shipment of small-mouth bass is expected from the Federal Fish and Wild Life Service early next week. Application for the fish to be used in restocking county streams was made last June.

Safety Warning Issued to Hayride Parties

Cpl. E. H. Davey of the Marion office of Ohio State Patrol issued a warning today to Marion county residents participating in hayrides and requested that the persons in charge of these outings check to make certain that the haywagons are lighted properly. He also requested that they stay off the main highways as much as possible and thus help avoid serious accidents. A series of accidents to hayriders has been reported throughout the state, Cpl. Davey said, and he hopes that precautions taken in the Marion district would prevent such accidents here.

PICKETS BAR OFFICIALS

CANTON, O., Oct. 20.—Officials of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. reported today pickets barred supervisory employes from one of its four strike-bound plants as the work stoppage continued into its sixth day without sign of settlement. Some 8,200 CIO-United Steelworkers walked out of the four plants Monday as the result of a dispute over scheduling of maintenance workers for Saturday and Sunday shifts and the disciplinary suspension of a 10-inch mill crew.

OBERLIN ENDS YEAR WITH CLEAN SLATE

Miami, O. N. U.'s Capital and Ashland Still Hopeful.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22—You can save a place for Oberlin when you start making up a list of the nation's unbeaten and untied football teams for 1945.

Still hopeful for a place in that favored list too are Miami, Capital, Ohio Northern and Ashland. Miami's chances don't look too good, however, since the Redskins have a date with Purdue on Nov. 10.

Oberlin's Yeomen finished up their season Saturday by coming from behind to whip Depauw 26 to 14. It was the eighth straight victory for the Yeomen and they did it the hard way. They were behind, 14 to 13, going into the final period and then scored twice to whip the Hoosiers.

Boswell Held Down

Jim Boswell didn't score any touchdowns but he threw a pass for one of the markers. He finished the season with 11 touchdowns to his credit and the same number of touchdown passes.

Miami recorded victory No. 5 by walloping Ohio university 34 to 0. The Redskins scored in every period and the Bobcats made only one serious touchdown gesture.

Capital kept its victory string intact and its goal line uncrossed as it drubbed Wooster, 28 to 0. The Lutherans have won three straight and they're tied with Oberlin for first place in the Ohio conference.

Ohio Northern licked Bluffton 21 to 0,—the second straight week for the Polar Bears to win from that team by that score. Ash and opened its season by whipping thrice-beaten Wittenberg, 19 to 6.

Case also came from behind to pull a victory out of the fire. Trailing Ohio Wesleyan, 14 to 13, with only a few minutes left to play, the Scientists sprung Don Zalimeni loose and he galloped 59 yards for a touchdown and the winning points. It was Case's second victory in seven starts.

2,000 U. S. Towns Plan 'Living War Memorials'

IN MEMORIAM. In live, enjoyable memorials like these, American communities are acknowledging their debt to the fighters of World War II both living and dead. Top, a swimming pool at Lone Pine, Calif. Bottom, St. Cloud's (Minn.) golf course and Jackson's' (Mich.) trees.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22—More than 2,000 communities from coast to coast already have joined in a campaign to erect "living memorials" to the veterans, alive and dead, of World War II.

George M. Trautman, chairman of the American Commission for Living War Memorials, says those 2,000-odd communities have plans for more than 5,300 different memorial projects. The number is increasing daily.

The "Memorials that Live" idea was born of the belief that the war veterans themselves and citizens generally would appreciate such projects more than the usual monuments and statues.

Memorials Vary

With that in mind, the commission set out to interest communities in building their war memorials in the form of camp sites, reservations, parks, playing fields, indoor sports centers, swimming pools, community centers and golf courses.

"Many communities already have completed their memorials," says Trautman. Others have raised funds and are only waiting for building materials.

Leafing through the hundreds of reports from all parts of the country, Trautman produced these examples of what the memorials to the men and women of World War II will be like:

Fremont, O.—A park and swimming pool has been dedicated to "all infantrymen" in general and Pvt. Rodger Young in particular. Posthumously awarded the congressional medal of honor, Pvt. Young was killed on New Georgia in 1943.

St. Cloud, Minn.—A golf course and club house were dedicated as a living war memorial on May 16, 1945. All financial obligations were paid off before the memorial was dedicated and men and women of the armed forces may become members without payment of any initial fee.

New Rochelle, N. Y.—A $110,000 boys' club will be erected as "the kind of a memorial that will remain a living fabric of the nation, generation after generation; a memorial whose function is to mould character and prevent waste and spoilage of good human material."

Loyville, Pa. — A memorial park is planned which will include a pavilion, pool and other outdoor facilities.

Lone Pine, Calif.—A swimming pool now is finished which Trautman described as "an outstanding example of community effort." Only about $11,000 in actual cash went into the project, the remainder of the time, money and effort being contributed by the citizens of the community. An engraved merit award was sent to every man, woman and child who contributed 20 or more days of labor to the project.

Kerrville, Tex.—Kerrville citizens have raised $100,000 to build a community center which will include an auditorium, indoor playground or gymnasium, library, banquet hall, lounge and rest rooms.

Jackson, Mich.—More than 1,700 trees have been set out on a 13-mile stretch of U. S. Highway 12.

Hagerstown, Md.—The "Hagerstown Memorial Forest" has been started, with trees donated by the department of forestry and maintenance pledged by the 4-H clubs of the community. Outdoor recreation facilities will be added.

Pottstown, Pa.—A $750,000 outdoor playground with facilities for all outdoor sports is planned.

Melrose, Minn. — Melrose will spend $250,000 to erect a memorial stadium with facilities for sports events, fairs, community religious services and conventions.

Camden, Tenn.—A community of only 1,400, Camden will have a $30,000 war memorial building to provide facilities for all service organizations, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, and civic and recreational functions.

Malin, Ore.—Malin has raised $103,000 of the $140,000 needed for a community park to include a recreation hall, swimming pool and other ountdoor facilities.

Prospect Girl Weds Washington Soldier

PROSPECT, Oct. 22—At a quiet home wedding Friday afternoon Miss Mary Jane Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Owen Thomas of near Prospect, exchanged vows with Pfc. Leonard G. Ahmay.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Donald Hickman and Harold Thomas, sister and brother of the bride. Rev. Owen Lasley, pastor of First Baptist church of Bucyrus, read the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. Ahmay graduated from Prospect High school in 1943 and has been employed at Patterson Field Commissary. Pfc. Ahmay, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armay of Washington D. C., is stationed at New Castle Air Base, Wilmington, Del. After a short trip to Washington, D. C. Pfc. and Ahmay will reside in Wilmington.

Army Reports Carey Lieutenant as Dead

CAREY, Oct. 22—Lt. William Spackey, son of William Spackey, northeast of Carey, who was reported to have been missing in action on September 25, 1944, between Sicily and Corsica, is presumed to be dead according to a report received from the War Department. Lt. Spackey, 27, was a pilot of a B-25 Mitchell bomber and was a member of the 12th Air Force. He had been credited with 58 combat missions and had been overseas 10 months prior to the time he was reported missing.

HARDIN CO. MAN HELD

KENTON, Oct. 22 — Emery Moore was bound over to the Hardin county grand jury Friday and his bond set at $1,000, on charges of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The charges arose out of the taking of the automobile of Brice Allen, after Moore allegedly shot at Allen last Tuesday morning. Allen was committed to the county jail in default of a $500 bond. He is being held as a material witness in the affair.

BUCYRUS QUIET AS ELECTION DAY NEARS

BUCYRUS, Oct 22—An election only two weeks off is being approached in Bucyrus with little fanfare, with scarcely a ripple of campaign activity except promotion for the $175,000 hospital addition bond issue. A slight stir of activity has centered around the Bucyrus school board contest in which two newcomers are vieing with a present member for the two vacancies on the board. Jay Winters, Bucyrus haberdasher and former high school football faculty coach, and Ralph Perrett are seeking favor for the posts along with Roy Widman, incumbent.

Bucyrus' full ticket of Democrats are unopposed for city offices.

In the county interest is sectional. A contest in the county school board for the three vacancies is being waged by six candidates, two of whom are incumbents.

The rural school boards, New Washington and Whetstone, have contests coming up; Galion has a contest in the mayoralty race and in ward councilmen for the first, third and fourth wards; New Washington will choose from eight candidates for the six posts on the village council and the village also has a contest for clerk. Eight townships have contests on the ballots for township trustees. Chatfield, Tiro and North Robinson voters will find blank ballots for write in candidates.

Voters will be called upon to voice their approval or disapproval of two tax levies for school operation at Tiro and Lykens. Both are renewals of the two mill levy, Tiro voting on a five year and Lykens a three-year levy.

Bucyrus hospital bond issue, if approved, will cost tax payers seven and six-tenths cents on each $100 property valuation.

In the county school board contest Elmer W. Lutz, Bucyrus attorney, and Albert Shafer are seeking reelection. Four other candidates for the three vacancies are L. Paul Auck, Pearson L. Linn, T. E. Shealy and Fred Von Kaenel. I. W. Kurtz is the retiring member.

Nine Churches Send Delegates to Meeting

Representatives from nine Churches of Christ of this area, including the host church, attended a fellowship meeting at Central Christian church here yesterday afternoon and evening. Taking part in the afternoon session were Rev. David DeBoer of Pleasant Grove, Rev. W. R. Ellis of Galion, Rev. R. F. Strickler of Kirkpatrick and the host pastor, Rev. Eldred Johnston.

Following a potluck supper a program in charge of the young people was presented. Miss Natalie Hartley of Marion was toastmistress and those who spoke included Misses Bonnie Gilmore and Simone Napoli of Marion, Albert Lundquist and William McGrew of Marion and Merrill Wood of Edison. For the evening session a devotional period was in charge of the Older Youth Fellowship of the host church with Misses Catherine Thew, Olive Hartley and Genevieve Basford taking part. A transcribed message by Dr. M. E. Sadler, president of Texas Christian university, was heard. Delegates were present from Tiffin, Fostoria, Caledonia, Pleasant Grove, Kirkpatrick, Bucyrus, Galion, Edison and Marion.

Church Circle Meets with Mrs. Harry Slyh

Mrs. Harry Slyh entertained Circle No. 3 of the General Aid of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at her home on Delaware avenue with Mrs. Stella Cunningham as assistant hostess. A report of a recent board meeting of General Aid was given by Mrs. A. F. Lantzer and Miss Floretta Almendinger presented the lesson study topic, "Lot's Wife."

Arrangements were made by the group to assist at a potluck family dinner to be held at the church Wednesday, Oct. 24.

A memorial service was conducted for the late Mrs. C. A. Stroud. Devotions were led by Mrs. Geneva Flocken and Mrs. Lantzer offered prayer. Thirteen members answered roll call. Mrs. J. B. Spruill, Mrs. A. S. Pease, Mrs. William Zinsmaster and Miss Nancy Lee Hudson were guests.

Purchase of New Police Cruiser Before Council

Legislation for the purchase of a police department cruiser car will be placed before city council at its regular meeting tonight, Mayor Harry L. Dowler said today. The car will replace a badly worn car now in use by the department, the mayor said. It will be acquired when available.

GUESTS OF CLASS

Mrs. Thomas Evans of Burlingame, Calif., Mrs. E. Paul Lawther and Mrs. R. C. Alexander were guests when Mrs. Wilfred Alexander was hostess to the R. F. A. G. class of Epworth Methodist church Tuesday night in her home at 600 Cherry street. The meeting opened with group singing and prayer led by Mrs. Frank Garfield. Miss Helen Connolly gave the devotions and Mrs. Zelda Sweney was in charge of the Bible study. Contest honors went to Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. Anna Augenstein and Mrs. Anna Ralston. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Irene O'Connell, Mrs. James Ralston and Mrs. Jewell Ralston.

Child League Backs Jobs and Progress

The Senior Circle of the Child Conservation League indorsed the Jobs and Progress program of the Marion Civic Planning Group and contributed $5 for promotional expenses at a meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Tobin on South High street. A talk on the project was given by Miss Fanay Rauhauser. Lunch was served at a table centered with a bouquet of white chrysanthemums with Mrs. Don DeLong serving. The next meeting will be Nov. 1 with Mrs. E. E. Parish on North Prospect street. She will be assisted by Mrs. DeLong and Mrs. Ruth Bindley.

Fite Memorial Church Group Is Entertained

The Guild Girls and their councilor, Mrs. Glenn Kellogg, of the Fite Memorial Baptist church held a Halloween party Thursday at the home of Miss Gloria Pace of Henry street. The boys adult class members were guests.

The evening was spent with games, music and contests. Miss Mary Spires was enrolled as a new member. Refreshments were served in keeping with Halloween.

Select Cows
... sold at Marion Union Stock Yards on Monday, Oct. 29
at 1 o'clock
The reason
Three years ago the Testing Association gave me an average of 9054 lbs. of milk and 389 lbs. of fat per cow on a herd numbering 30 head. I sold two of the best bulls I could buy, one a Holstein, the other a Guernsey and bred these cows with the result I have 34 head of coming one year old and two years old heifers beginning to freshen and as I am selling my milking herd. These cows are Holstein and Guernsey, free from disease, better than half of them fresh, five Guernseys and the others are giving a good flow of milk. All will make good winter cows. Some of these cows are the best I ever owned. All absolutely to go.

EXPERTS FORECAST RECORD WHEAT CROP

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 — Another record wheat crop is possible next year, Chicago Board of Trade crop experts agreed today.

This year's record harvest totaled about 1,150,000,000 bushels, including 837,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 313,000,000 bushels of the spring crop.

Crop authorities agreed on the possibility of another record harvest included C. M. Galvin of James Bennett and Co., Harvey S. Williams of Harris, Upham and Co., Roy Bell of Lamson Brothers and Co.

"Based on normal weather, the outlook is for as much wheat as was raised this year or more," Williams said.

"All reports, particularly from the southwest, indicate as much or more winter wheat has been seeded as was planted last fall," he added. "The wheat is going into the ground under favorable conditions, with small exceptions, and seeding should be practically over by early next week."

Spring wheat will not be planted until next spring, but authorities said indications now were that the acreage would be about as large as last year.

Galvin declared another billion bushel crop next year "would come at a time when the export demand would be sharply curtailed by reason of expansion in European agricultural production to at least and probably above that of pre-war years."

All grain futures prices lost ground last week. Wheat Friday closed 3¼ to 5⅛ cents lower than the close the previous Saturday, December $1.74⅞-$1.75, corn was down ⅝ to 2⅝ cents, December $1.17¾, oats were 4⅝ to 5½ cents off, December 62½-⅝, rye was 2⅛ to 4¾ cents lower, December $1.58⅛-¼, and barley had lost 4⅜ to 5¼ cents, December $1.14⅞.

Policeman Helps Out Stork in Rush Call

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22—With a 25-year-old policeman as her sole attendant, Mrs. Joseph Langdon, 24, gave birth to a seven pound, eight-ounce boy in a police ambulance rushing her to a hospital last night.

Patrolman John Corrida served as midwife but he had expert advice. Patrolman Chester W. Krause, who was driving the ambulance, has delivered two babies himself under similar circumstances.

CRESTLINE, Oct. 22—James Gatton, 75, of the Beam road northeast of Crestline, was struck by a motorcycle ridden by Robert Wheatcraft, 17, of Route 4, Mansfield, Saturday about 4 p. m. on North Seltzer street in front of the Frank Dry Goods store.

Gatton was rushed to Emergency hospital where he was reported as having a fractured left leg, head lacerations and body bruises. His condition Sunday night was reported as fair.

Wheatcraft was released after being questioned by police and is to appear Monday evening in Mayor A. P. Songer's court.

CATTLE PRICES PUSH $18 LIMIT OF OPA

Buyers Come Early To Find AA Grade Steers.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct 22—Top cattle are crowding the $18 OPA ceiling as urgent demand draws buyers to the yards before dawn to find steers grading AA in beef.

As demand broadens, an increasing number of only average choice cattle are moving at the limit. Top good to low-choice kinds are showing strength. Traders said today that demand may hold at present high levels until the movement of hogs expands.

Hog Receipts Down

Hog unloadings at Chicago increased slightly this week but receipts still fell far below demand. The 1944 pig crop was fed to the heaviest weights on record and several buyers said current signs show farmers intend to do the same with the 1945 spring crop.

However, new crop pig receipts are showing a gradual increase and the average weights of barrows and gilts at Chicago this week dropped to the lowest figures in months. Pork production is still near the year's low time.

Income taxes also were sighted by traders as a possible delay factor. A downward revision of taxes apparently is forthcoming and farmers may hold back hogs until the lower taxes go into effect, livestock authorities said.

A sharply reduced 1945 lamb crop has slowed the movement of lambs from a year ago, and packers also have been hampered by the recent parade of sheep to feeding pastures But December 1 increased subsidies to producers are due and traders said farmers probably would start lambs to market.

Cattle At Peak

A record number of choice cattle—approximately 200 loads or 4,000 head—brought the $18 limit this week and when final tabulations are made cattlemen said the weekly average would probably be at an all-time high.

(USDA) — Average-good to average choice steers and yearlings closed 25 to 50 cents higher and all others except cellinged prime steers gained 25 to 40, mostly 25 cents up. Good and choice heifers finished fully a quarter higher, topping at $67.85 and cows lost an early 25 cents advance in late trade. The general bull market was steady to weak compared with last week and vealers were firm to 25 cents higher. Stock cattle closed mainly a quarter higher.

Salable hog receipts for four days numbered 15,500 compared with 32,784 during the same period a year ago. Prices remained at the $14.85 ceiling for barrows and gilts and $14.10 for sows.

Slaughter lambs opened steady but broad shipping demand forced prices 50 cents higher later. Other classes held steady.

STOCKS SHOW IRREGULARITY

Some Display Bullish Tendencies, Others Fail To Overcome Effect of Selling.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Assorted stocks continued to display moderately bullish leanings today although many market leaders were unable to overcome light selling.

Trends, slightly higher at a fairly active opening, turned irregular near the fourth hour. Dealings slowed appreciably.

In the advancing division the greater part of the proceedings were Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, Olver Corp., Sperry, General Electric, Houston Oil, Johns-Manville, DuPont, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio and General Realty. Laggards were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, Northern Pacific and New York Central.

Bonds were mixed and commodities steady.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I HAD talked my vanity into the wisdom of wearing a simple, inexpensive dress when Philip Vernier, the perfectly-dressed bachelor man of the world, asked if he might call on me. I had a bad attack of that, however, when he telephoned.

But when it all be agreed with me I realized with misgiving of the evening I imagine a manner not in keeping the style.

The Right Theory

My uncle, you have the right theory," he said. "Georges, despite his right training, his first-rate style, polish and his many bizarre experiences, never has quite grown up. If I weren't sure of that I wouldn't—"

He cut off. Under the circumstances words would be lighter than air. Olga and I exchanged relieved glances. The danger of a temperamental explosion was over.

"I hope Georges does not keep you waiting over the time your invitation named," Olga said worriedly.

"If so dear," I said grimly, "I shall have to knock on the door and summon him. But I am sure I shall not have to go that far."

My premonition came true.

The minutes stretched out interminably while we tried to keep up small conversation. But when the first sounds of the last minute began to trickle from the instrument I knew the crucial time was upon us.

Philip Vernier, who was holding the door open for us, we went out into the hall, and heard the door close behind us.

A Gusty Sigh

At the sound Georges gave a gusty sigh.

"I wonder if I'll ever go through that door again?" he said.

The thought was pressing on me, also, but I did not give voice to it.

"Of course you will," I told him, with as much heartiness as I could muster. "But we must not delay any longer. Your hands are full. I'll just walk ahead and press the elevator button."

Before I could finish it, however, Georges' long stride had carried him to my side, and his voice sounded imperatively.

"Please! Aunt Madge! I will keep you only one minute longer. But I must speak to you. Don't press the button for another five seconds!"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M. D.

Protein Deficiency

One of the most important elements in the diet is protein. Protein is needed for the repair of worn-out tissues and is necessary for growth in the young. Protein is found in large quantities in such foods as meat, fish, milk, and eggs. It is also present in many vegetables and cereals.

A protein deficiency may result if a person does not eat enough protein foods or if the taking up of the protein from the digestive organs is interfered with because of some disease. There may be an increased demand for protein because of some disease which is present, and which causes destruction of proteins in the body.

According to Doctor Frederick J. Stare of Harvard Medical school, protein deficiency which has resulted from prolonged lack of protein in the diet, can be overcome only by eating highly nutritious foods over a long period of time. However, it may be necessary in some cases also to give concentrated protein solutions by injection.

This may be required during attacks of hepatitis or liver inflammation in a condition known as cirrhosis of the liver a high protein diet, as well as injections of protein solutions, is necessary.

Vitamins Too

In treating both hepatitis and cirrhosis plenty of vitamins should also be given. Doctor Stare advises thiamin or vitamin B-1, riboflavin or Vitamin B-2 niacin and ascorbic acid or vitamin C. At first, large quantities are given Later on the dosage may be reduced. Another substance, which is part of the vitamin B-complex, called choline may also be administered in capsules taken by mouth.

According to Doctor Stare, the following amounts of food will supply a normal adult with sufficient protein daily and will allow a margin of nearly 100 per cent over actual needs: One pint of milk, 3 ounces of cooked meat, 1 egg, 3 ounces of peas or beans, 3 ounces of potatoes, 3 servings of other vegetables, 2 servings of fruit and 6 slices of bread.

He also suggests the use of a high protein tomato soup made up of butter, casein, wheat germ, soy flour, milk, a bouillon cube and tomato puree.

Remember, the best way of overcoming protein deficiency is to eat an abundance of the foods that are rich in protein.

Death March and "The Rock"

capable of firing at Bataan. Another was severely damaged. Gen. Moore and I went to Battery Geary immediately after the hit to survey the damage, which clearly showed the tremendous power of the Jap shell. A 10-ton barrel from one of our guns had been picked up like matchwood by the explosion and thrown 150 yards uphill to the cratered golf course.

No Shots at Peninsula's Tip

For a week after the Fall of Bataan I would permit none of our guns to fire against the tip of the Peninsula. For six days of that week, the Japs fired at us from that point, but I feared that if we returned the fire it might fall among my captured men. I found out later that even when we did fire, after the week of grace, we did wound some of our men, including Lt. Col. Bob Lindsey, who had been my old I Corps artillery officer.

However even death from our shells might have been welcomed by some of our men at that time, if they had been able to know what was in store for them. For by April 15 the almost unbelievable Death March toward Camp O'Donnell was on.

From a handful of men who escaped early in that never-to-be forgotten savagery, and from responsible men who participated in it and later reported to me, I learned the sadistic details.

Details of Death March

The Japs rounded up my defeated and diseased men in detachments of about 1,000 each. The first phase of the march was from southern Bataan up to San Fernando Pampanga, about 60 miles. There, in terrible physical condition, they were herded into boxcars like cattle and shipped 20 miles by rail to Capas, in Tarlac Province, where they were prodded out of their cars, lined up and marched about seven more miles to O'Donnell.

Camp O'Donnell was the site of a Seventy-First Philippine Army division cantonment. The water supply at this camp had not yet been sufficiently developed when the war started and such installations as we had had for pumping water had deteriorated beyond usefulness or had been destroyed.

The only water for these thousands of starving and thirst-crazed prisoners could be obtained from the muddy Bamban river, three miles from the camp. No transportation or containers for water other than canteens were available, and few of the men had canteens. The Japs had taken them away for the aluminum in them.

The march from southern Bataan to San Fernando was continuous, day and night, for those poor men. They got no food except rice, and not enough of that to sustain life. There were no purification tablets for the diseased waters of the Bamban river.

Death Toll Runs High

Capt. Reeder, an American medical officer at O'Donnell, testified to me later that between the time the men arrived at the camp about the third week in April, and the end of July, 20,000 of the 45,000 Filipino and 1,400 American troops sent there died of starvation, disease and torture.

Col. Bonnett, who escaped from his trap near Baguio early in the campaign, only to be captured at the fall of Bataan, was killed at O'Donnell when a Jap soldier cracked his skull with a heavy stick or club. He received no proper treatment before his death. Brig. Gen. Lurther R. Stevens also was clubbed about the head, his glasses smashed in his face.

Col. Campbell, head of our air warning service, was bayoneted through the back when he did not walk fast enough to suit the Jap private behind him. He was only one of thousands thus treated for stumbling or not keeping pace with the killing march.

Many of our men, thirst-crazy, jumped off bridges or threw themselves face-first into creeks and stagnant pools. These men were shot or bayoneted as they lay there drinking the vile waters. My old I Corps adjutant, Lt. Col. Uddenburg, was thus shot.

American and Filipino soldiers, suffering terribly from dysentery, who stopped by the roadside to relieve themselves, were ordered to eat their own excrement. If they refused they were bayoneted or shot.

That was the Death March, committed by depraved beasts whom we had considered human beings.

INSTALLMENT NO 16

In this article Gen. Wainwright tells of life on Corregidor and of the Jap shell which failed to take his life but seriously impaired his hearing.

BY the middle of the tragically unequal artillery duel with the Japs, during the fight for Corregidor, which lasted from the Fall of Bataan on April 9 until May 6, 1942, I itched to use our two best guns on the pitiless enemy.

These were our 12-inch modern rifles, two of the last guns with which we could defend ourselves.

But the Jap artillery batteries that were assaulting us from the top of Bataan, less than two miles away, and from Cavite, six miles across Manila bay, to the south of us, were almost impossible to locate. We had no artillery observation, as had they. Yet, just to have shot those two 12-gun of ours at the wisps of smokeless powder haze which sometime drifted up from the Jap gun positions would have helped our morale.

But it would have been foolhardy to expose the positions of our two best guns. We fired them only at night, for they were to be our last defense in the heavy gun line.

Grateful to Tunnel Builder

Malinta tunnel saved thousands of us on Corregidor, and often we had cause to thank old Gen. Charles Kilbourne for having had the foresight to build it back in the early 1930's. With an eye to a long-distant war with Japan, Gen. Kilbourne ordered the tunnel dug through Malinta Hill and sealed in such a way as to enable it to take a beating of the kind it was forced to take a decade later.

The tunnel is about 750 feet long, running east and west, and at its center it has a 100-foot thick ceiling of concrete, rock and vegetation. It is perhaps 25 feet wide and 15 feet high through the main portion. Off its main wing run a number of laterals, one of them emerging from the north side of the hill and another, not completed, coming out on the south side. The other laterals are much more shallow. They served as storerooms before the war, but became a hospital, MacArthur's office, a minute bedroom and sitting room for MacArthur, and were put to other uses.

Poorly Ventilated

It was damp in the tunnel and the ventilation often was bad. The living quarters I took over from MacArthur consisted of two rooms, each 7 x 9, whose rough walls and rounded ceiling were painted white by paint borrowed from the hospital.

By April 25 the tunnel hospital had been expanded until it was handling a thousand wounded men. It made you want to weep to see them in there, trapped, while the place shook from the bombing and shelling outside. More than once the tunnel's shaky lighting system, thought protected by Brig. Gen. Beebe's improvisations with small generators, failed and cast all of us into the most Stygian blackness imaginable—a fearful hardship on the hospital, where bloodstained doctors and nurses worked night and day.

I spent as much time as I could with the wounded, giving them what small comfort I could extend. And those visits to the hospital made me determined that I would get as many of the nurses away from Corregidor as was humanly possible.

Promise of Aid

It was not easy to do. The Japs now had a firm hold on the islands lying athwart our escape route to Australia. So I radioed MacArthur and got from him the promise that he would order his only two Navy flying boats to attempt to get to Corregidor and be used as escape planes. MacArthur also wanted certain valuable personnel removed from The Rock to his Australian headquarters. He sent me a list of their names, and left the rest of the selections to me.

Believe me, it was a hard list to make up. It is not an easy thing to be a judge of whether a man or woman will go free or stay in Hell. Atop this was the worry over whether the planes would ever reach Corregidor.

Our plan was for the two Navy flying boats to fly up from Australia, alight on Lake Lanao in Mindanao, refuel, and come the rest of the dangerous way under cover of night and then set down close enough to the mine-infested Rock to enable us to load our people aboard in a hurry.

But as the days dragged on the noose to the South tightened and the shelling of Corregidor and the waters around it—night and day—made me wonder if the whole plan was not outrageous.

Message from Malta

On April 26 I received a message from half-way around the earth, from a land as battered and besieged as our own little world. Gen. Sir William George Shedden Dobbie, governor of Malta, radioed:

"People of Malta send their warm greetings to the gallant defenders of Corregidor. They have watched with profound admiration the magnificent fight you have put up which has been a great inspiration to us all. You are giving untold assistance to the Allied cause.

"God grant you may soon reap the fruits of victory."

I replied:

"The officers and enlisted men on Corregidor deeply appreciate the sentiments expressed in your message. In our efforts to contribute to the common cause of freedom for which the Philippine and American troops are now fighting we are inspired and encouraged by the historic stand which has been made by the gallant defenders of Malta.

"With God's help, both our peoples shall soon join hands across the seas in celebrating the return of freedom to the democratic nations of the world."

And I meant it. But I knew in my bones that it would be a long, long time before there would be any joining of hands, at least our hands. I kept these thoughts to myself, never even admitting to my staff that I was certain no help could come to us.

Grim Understanding

My junior officers and the young men, filled with the God-given optimism of youth, fought with a ray of hope in their hearts that things would take a turn for the better. But I could see in the eyes of the senior officers the thing that was in my own heart. They knew, too.

I prayed that the Navy planes would make it, to take out at least some of those brave girls. Never have women worked as gallantly and as heroically as our 150 nurses, most of them veterans of Bataan, worked in Malinta tunnel. Many of the Bataan veterans among them, including wounded girls, told me that while they were grateful for even the little safety of Corregidor they would have preferred to stay with the men on Bataan and been captured with them.

On April 28, I think it was the Japs finally got a part of me. On more occasions than I can remember, I had had to jump out of my car on tours around The Rock and join the men in shelters during especially heavy shellings and bombings.

On this particular morning I had just finished breakfast in the convalescent mess and was walking toward an exit of the tunnel, intent on getting some air, making a walking tour of a nearby battery, and intent also on smoking one of the cigars MacArthur left for me.

I paused for a moment to light the cigar, while still 30 or 40 feet short of the bulwark that protected the end of the tunnel, when a 240 mm. shell hit the barrier with a splintering roar. The concussion in that part of the tunnel was terrific. My head suddenly felt as if someone had rammed a red-hot pipe through one ear and out the other.

But a cigar is a cigar, especially one of MacArthur's. I continued out through the half-smashed bulwark to view the damage and take my smoke. I noticed that every sound, from voices to shelling, was quieter than before. I thought it was just a temporary impairment of my hearing. But as it turned out my left ear-drum had burst, and the right ear since then has never been up to its old standard.

(TOMORROW: General Wainwright arranges for the escape from Corregidor, in dramatic fashion, of 30 heroic American nurses, and the Battle for Corregidor goes on its fearful way.)

"IT MADE YOU WANT TO WEEP": Malinta Tunnel, on Corregidor, saved thousands of lives as Gen. Wainwright notes, though the wounded patients had to undergo the shocks from the bombing and shelling outside. This photo of the rock-tunnel hospital was made by the Japanese after the fall of The Rock.

HELP NEEDED BY RED CROSS

Field Directors, Hospital and Social Workers Listed by Chapter Here.

At a meeting Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding of the executive board of the Marion County chapter of the American National Red Cross, an announcement was made concerning the urgent need of recruits for domestic and overseas service. The present need is for assistant field directors, hospital recreational workers and social workers. Educational requirements have been lowered and salaries increased. Anyone interested in this Red Cross work can obtain more information at the local chapter office on West Center street.

The Red Cross is also planning a series of broadcasts on the air. They will be entitled "You Were There" and will be heard here over Station WMRN every Monday at 9 p. m. They will be in the form of playlets and will tell of the various services that the Red Cross performs.

Report of committees for September were given listing the following activities:

Home service department: 98 new cases closed, 129 cases continued. The newly formed Home Service Committee met recently and plans for formulating new policies with reference to financial assistance were discussed. Members of the committee are Mrs. F. W. Rea, chairman, Mrs. W. N. Harder, Dr. Margaret Pennington, Rev. C. T. Crenshaw and Charlton Myers.

Home nursing: Mrs. J. C. Ackerman, chairman; plans being made for a county home nursing committee meeting to promote interest in organizing classes throughout the country.

Nutrition: Mrs. F. J. Hurst, chairman; home economics classes at Harding and Pleasant Township High schools are planning to use the Red Cross Nutrition course in their regular curriculum.

Junior Red Cross: Mrs. J. H. Harmon, chairman; schools will enroll in the Junior Red Cross during the enrollment period throughout the nation Nov. 1-15. Supplies are being distributed to the schools for this.

Accident prevention: B. B. Gallagher, chairman; plans being made for an Accident Prevention Instructors Course to be held in December and instructed by a special field representative from the area.

Historian: Mrs. Harold V. Alexander; Miss Alice Dombaugh was appointed as assistant historian. Chapter histories are to be compiled soon.

Volunteer special services: Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, chairman; staff assistance corps, Mrs. M. C. Murphy, chairman; eight members volunteered 127 hours assisting in the office and working on war fund files.

Home service corps: Mrs. John Waddell, chairman; eight members volunteered 247 hours; nine visits made; two office interviews; one volunteer gave 12 hours service.

Hospital and recreation corps, Mrs. J. P. Courtright, chairman; 23 "gray ladies" volunteered 153¼ hours at City hospital.

Nurse's aids volunteered 708½ hours at City hospital.

Production, Mrs. John McNamara, chairman; 55 workers volunteered 395½ hours sewing and assisting at production room; 29 boys' coats completed for war relief; 24 army kit bags completed for the armed forces; 435 army kit bags shipped.

County Society Hears State Pension Heads

Talks were given by state workers and officers at a meeting of the Old Age Pension Society of Marion County, Friday afternoon at the Eagles' hall. Approximately 100 members and guests attended and there was a musical program.

F. W. McColm, of the Division of Aid for the Aged in the county, and Ira LaMoreaux, acting chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged in Ohio, were the principal speakers. A talk also was given by M. J. Berry of Mansfield, state president, who with Mrs. Berry, was a guest.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the society on Friday, Nov. 2, in the Eagles' hall, when speakers from Columbus will talk on property rights, and if mandatory to turn over insurance policies. Reports on recipients were given by Rease Jenkins, T. F. Manhart and William F. Porter. Music included songs by the group, "The Way of the Cross Leads Home" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder". The meeting opened with a song, "America," the Lord's Prayer and Salute to the Flag, by the group. The invocation and benediction were spoken by Mrs. Elizabeth Houser.

Social Affairs

MISS Patricia Ellen Dodd, daughter of Mrs. John Andrew Dodd of 367 Franklin street, and the late Dr. Dodd, became the bride of James E. Ashworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Ashworth of Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church.

For the ceremony, read at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor, the church was decorated with greenery and white. Palms and foliage formed a background for the single center basket of white chrysanthemums and pompons and the tall white wicker baskets at either side of the altar. Myriads of tapers glowed in the candleholders on the altar and the tall double branched candelabra at either side and in the choir loft. Marking the family pews were clusters of white pompons and greenery caught with white ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Capt. John C. Dodd of the U. S. Marines, wore a gown of white slipper satin. The basque, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, was button trimmed down the back, with long, tight fitting sleeves, and the skirt extended into a long train. Her tiered fingertip veil of net was held to her dark hair with a coronet of braided satin caught at either side with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of filmy white net, in a fan arrangement, clustered with waxy stephanotis, white roses, and centered with a white hybrid orchid. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a gold and amethyst bracelet.

The attendants were Mrs. William Nielsen of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., a sorority sister of the bride, who was the matron of honor, and Miss Connie Ault of Mt. Gilead, a cousin, Miss Jane Hickam of Spencer, Ind., also, a sorority sister, Mrs. James C. Woods, Jr., and Miss Ann Mapes, who were bridesmaids. All wore identical gowns of taffeta and net, fashioned with short basques, off the shoulder necklines outlined with deep ruffles matching the full net skirts. Their open-crowned Mary Queen of Scots hats matched their gowns. Mrs. Neilsen's gown was in an American Beauty shade, and the bridesmaids' gowns were rose. The matron of honor carried a fan arrangement of orchid eucalyptus foliage clustered with deep rose shattered carnations tied with orchid satin ribbon and the bridesmaids' flowers, also in fan arrangements, were of silver eucalyptus foliage clustered with Virginia pink shattered carnations and tied with matching satin ribbon.

The little flower girls, Martha Ann Clark of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, and Judy Strellitz, wore frocks of pink, replicas of the attendants' gowns, and matching Mary Queen of Scots bonnets. They carried baskets of rose net filled with pink rose petals.

Mr. Ashworth served as best man for his son and ushers were his brother, Donald Ashworth of Minneapolis, Lt. William Nielsen, U. S. Navy, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., James C. Woods, Jr., and Lt. Edward Smith, U. S. Army.

Miss Nancy Wright, wearing a rose chiffon dress and Miss Sally Dee of Bellefontaine, in a gown of old gold velvet, lighted the tapers.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Eliza Williams organist, and Capt. J. A. Schufle sang. During the half-hour program Capt. Schufle sang "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte, "I Love Thee," Grieg, "Always," Berlin and "Because," D'Hardelot, and Mrs. Williams' selections included "Evening Star," Wagner, "At Dawning," Cadman, "Venetian Love Song," Nevin, "Wedding Bells," Truette and "Thine Alone," Herbert. During the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly," Bond, traditional song of the bride's sorority and "Estrellita," Ponce. The traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional.

The reception was held at the Marion Country club where the lounge was transformed into an outdoor setting, with the walls and fireplace banked with boughs and autumn leaves and baskets of white flowers.

Mrs. Dodd received in a gown of iris blue crepe with which she wore a fuchsia feather hat and black accessories, and the bridegroom's mother was costumed in an aqua gown with silver trim and matching headdress. Both wore lavender hybrid orchid corsages.

The bride's table, in white and crystal, was centered with an oblong crystal bowl filled with white roses encircled with tufts of white satin and smaller motifs and rosebuds were caught to the crystal candlesticks holding tall white tapers. The bride and bridegroom cut their wedding cake with a sword belonging to the bride's paternal grandfather, Dr. C. T. Dodd. Assisting were Mrs. Arthur

MRS. JAMES E. ASHWORTH

Ault of Mt. Gilead, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Ray R. King, Mrs. Chester C. Roberts, Mrs. J. M. Strellitz, Mrs. S. K. Martin, Mrs. John Cooper, Miss Frances Gross, Mrs. James C. Mapes, Mrs. Howard Gilbert, Mrs. Carl Danner, Mrs. S. G. Rosenberg, Mrs. F. M. Knapp, Mrs. J. C. Ballinger, Mrs. James R. Smith and Miss Ruth Wise.

When the couple left on a wedding trip through Virginia and Tennessee, the bride was wearing a fuchsia wool suit with black trim matching her hat and completing her costume was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

A graduate of Harding High school, the bride attended DePauw university where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Ashworth attended the University of Minnesota and DePauw and recently received his discharge from the U. S. Navy. His fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon. He is associated with his father in road construction and contracting in Minneapolis, where he and his bride will make their home.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ashworth, the bridegroom's parents, Donald Ashworth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Cedergren, Miss Anna R. Vorbeck, Mrs. W. G. Johnson, Miss Harriet R. Mober of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Bayer and Miss Phyllis Bayer of Findlay, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney B. Hume, Mrs. Robert Walts, Seaman First Class James Hume of Toledo, Miss Martha Dana of Chicago, Mrs. Robert Nell of Mantua, O., Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Meek, Carl R. Meek of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Clark of Cleveland, Mrs. John H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Miss Joann Clark, Robert Clark of Caledonia, Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Hardy of Medina, Miss Mary Grace Hardy of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Burns of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Ault of Mt. Gilead, Mrs. W. O. Mrs. Jaye Anderson of 292 Hane avenue entertained the Octa club Friday evening at Ringer's inn. High score in cards went to Mrs. C. W. Minnick and Mrs. Dazel Sosey. Mrs. Sosey also won the floating award. The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. Fern Lee of 383 Mary street.

Mrs. R. H. Fetter of 244 Orchard street entertained Sunday in honor of her daughter, Nancy, who was celebrating her eighth birthday. Games and contests were played and a luncheon was served among pink and white table decorations. Guests included Janis Worthington, Donna Hord, Marilyn Miller, Sue and Ann Morrison, Joyce Benge and Judy Stein.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Harraman of 323 David street entertained Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Willison and Miss Maude Maxwell of Richwood and Mrs. Ethel Maxwell of New Philadelphia. Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Fred Willison of Richwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willison of 878 North Main street Thursday evening.

Mrs. Don H. Mateer and Miss Vivian Tuttle, both of Mt. Gilead, were guests when Mrs. E. L. Jones entertained the Vieto club with a buffet supper at Hotel Harding Wednesday night. Cards were played with the first award going to Mrs. Robert Walsh. Mrs. Don Ruhl was consoled. The guest prize was won by Mrs. Mateer and the special award by Mrs. Bernice Sansone. The next meeting will be Nov. 1 with Mrs. Ruhl on Seffner avenue.

The Val Dura club honored Mrs. Helen Weston Thursday night with a birthday party at Ringer's Inn. Mrs. Lottie Hull and Mrs. Verabelle Gordon were guests and Mrs. Hull was received as a new member. High honors in euchre went to Mrs. Ada Keeler, Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Pauline Keeton. Mrs. Florence Herron won the galloping prize and Mrs. Hull was awarded the guest prize. Names were drawn for the Christmas party. The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at the home of Mrs. Millie Baker on Olney avenue.

Mrs. Harold Russell of 268 Barnhart street entertained with a party recently in honor of the birthday anniversaries of her two daughters, Patricia, three years old, and Sharon Kay, two years old. Games were played by the 18 guests present and refreshments were served by Mrs. Russell, assisted by Mrs. Ruthella Hollinger, Mrs. Ruth McCurdy and Mrs. Donna Miller.

Elchorn and the roll call was answered with facts about husbands. Mrs. M. E. Schmidt read an article, "A True Story That Haunted Him." The next meeting will be Nov. 21 with Mrs. Ralph Hager.

Kruskamp-Schelb Wedding Read at St. Mary Church

A NUPTIAL high mass in St. Mary Catholic church this morning solemnized the marriage of Miss Frances Eleanor Kruskamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kruskamp of 538 Oak street, and George Daniel Schelb, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Schelb of 815 South Prospect street. The pastor, Rev. William J. Spickerman read the ceremony and was the celebrant for the mass sung at 9:30 o'clock by the parochial school choir.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta, fashioned with a full skirt extending into a long train. Accenting the bodice was a yoke of mousseline de soie outlined with lace and the long sleeves were pointed at the hand. Her fingertip veil was held with a bonnet style cap and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses and pompons. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Joan Schelb, was her maid of honor and Miss Violet Shaw was the bridesmaid. Miss Schelb's gown was in a pink shade, and was made with a lace top and a very full net skirt over matching taffeta. Her crownless poke bonnet was ostrich trimmed and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Miss Shaw's dress of net and jersey was in a blue shade and her headdress was a matching tiara. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Jack Schelb, brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man and ushers were Arthur Schelb of Kalamazoo, Mich., and William Hackett of Bellefontaine.

The bride's mother was costumed in a black suit with which she combined a fuchsia trimmed hat, and her corsage was white pompons. Mrs. Schelb chose a gray costume with which she wore a purple hat and her flowers were purple and lavender pompons.

The altar vases held bouquets of white flowers and matching bouquets and greenery were in tall baskets at either side of the chancel entrance.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a breakfast at their home, and later the couple left on a wedding trip. The bride chose for traveling a brown suit, with blue bonnet-styled hat and brown accessories. They will make their home at 154 Oak street.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school and has been employed as a cashier at the Jim Dugan clothing store. Mr. Schelb was graduated from Harding High school and is employed as a signalman with the New York Central Railroad Co.

Guests from out of the city included Miss Mae Kruskamp, Harry Kruskamp and Miss Laura Schadel of Washington, C. H., Miss Estella Sweeney of Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Schelb, Mrs. Lawrence Cook, Russell Schelb of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Mrs. John King of Meadville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hackett of Bellefontaine.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at the rehearsal dinner last evening at their home. The table was lighted with blue tapers and held a centerpiece of autumn flowers. Covers were placed for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

The bride and bridegroom presented their attendants with gifts at the dinner. Miss Kruskamp presented her maid of honor and bridesmaid with silver bracelets and Mr. Scheib gave his best man a gold tie and collar pin and watch chain and the ushers leather billfolds. He also presented Mr. McGinnis a leather memorandum book. Assisting Mrs. Schelb were Mrs. Howard Jacoby, Mrs. L. K. McGinnis, Miss Ann McGinnis and Mrs. John Gillis.

District President Entertains at Tea

Mrs. Roy Shoewalter of 706 Herman street, recently elected president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, District 5, was hostess at a patriotic tea for members of the Mrs. Thomas J. Shepard Tent No. 33, D.U.V., of Bucyrus Friday evening. Mrs. Shoewalter was elected to office at the district meeting convention held recently in Wooster.

Guests included Mrs. Gail Montgomery, past department president, Mrs. Pearl Schwartz, senior vice president of District 6, Mrs. Geneva Flocken, Mrs. Elva Sutton, Mrs. Pearl Darnell, Mrs. Lloyd Strickland, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strickland, all of Marion. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Donald and Mrs. Lloyd Strickland.

LaRue Soldier Takes Bride in France

Mr. and Mrs. Spear S. Hastings of near LaRue are announcing the marriage of their son, Staff Sgt. Charles L. Hastings to Miss Marguerite Ann Marie Marcelin of France.

The double ring ceremony was read Sept. 26 at the Protestant Reform church in Nancy, France, in both the English and French languages.

Sgt. Hastings enlisted while a junior at Ohio Wesleyan university and has been stationed overseas for more than two years. He is attached to an anti-tank division with General Mark Clark's Fifth Army. According to word received by the parents he is expecting to be discharged soon and plans to go into work with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Bucyrus Couple Wed at Prospect Parsonage

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 22—Choosing to exchange marriage vows in the same parsonage where her grandparents took their vows more than 50 years ago, Miss Nora Kathryn Wingert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wingert of southeast of Bucyrus, became the bride of Pfc. John Crawford of Seattle, Wash., Thursday. The nuptials took place in the Reformed parsonage at Prospect where the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stump of Bucyrus, exchanged their vows 56 years ago. The grandparents were present to witness the ceremony.

KENTON MAN PROMOTED

KENTON, Oct. 22—Mr. and Mrs. Lauren V. Arn of north of Kenton have received word of the promotion of their son Lauren from the rank of major to the rank of lieutenant colonel. Lt. Col. Arn entered the service in 1941 and is now stationed at Frankfort, Germany.

Miss Flach Weds T/5 Merle Davis of Salinas, Calif.

MRS. MERLE DAVIS

THE First Evangelical and Reformed church was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Maurine Jean Flach, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Flach of 347 South Vine street and the late Clarence Flach, to T/5 Merle Davis, son of Mrs. Robert Rubis of Salinas, Calif. The double ring ceremony was read in the presence of the immediate family at 10:30 a. m. by the pastor, Rev. E. H. Wierth, before an altar decorated with ferns and white pompons.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a pearl gray wool faradine suit with which she wore black accessories and an orchid corsage. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Dale Porter, who wore a green dress with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Dale Porter, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man.

Following a wedding breakfast at Ringer's Inn the couple left on a short wedding trip.

The new Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Harding High school and attended Miami university. She has been employed as a comptometer operator at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. T/5 Davis is stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark. Before entering the service he was employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. The couple plan to make their home in Salinas, Calif. following his discharge from the armed forces.

KEY TO HAPPINESS

★ "With health, everything is a source of pleasure: without it, nothing else, whatever it may be, is enjoyable. It follows that the greatest of follies is to sacrifice health for any other kind of happiness, whatever it may be—for gain, advancement, learning, for fame, let alone, then, for fleeting sensual pleasures," advised Arthur Schopenhauer.

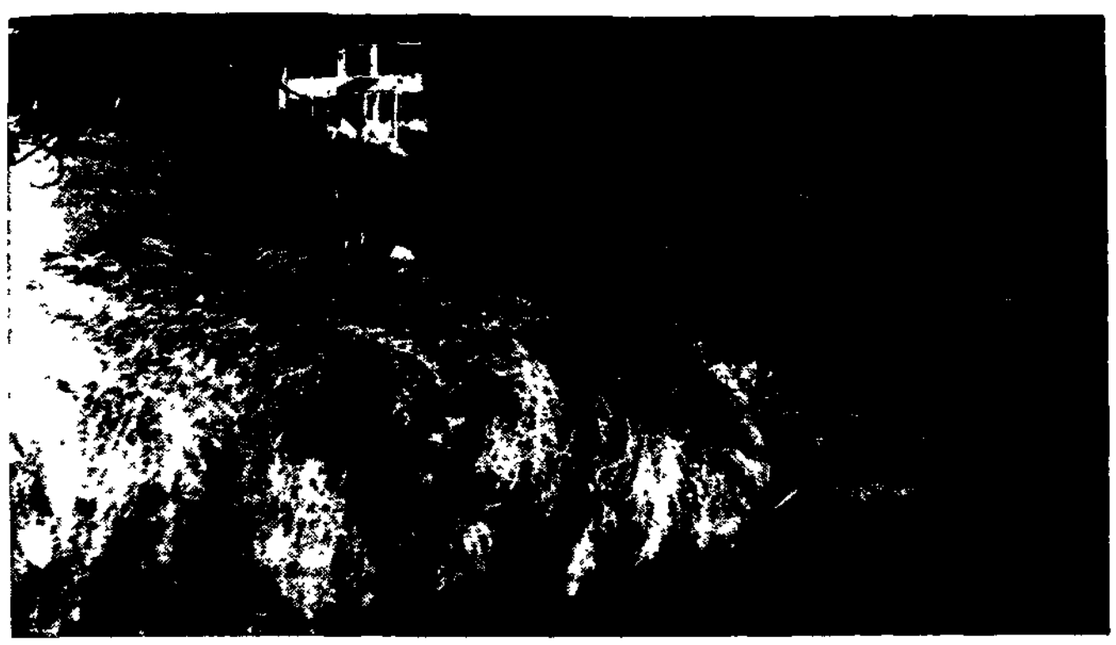
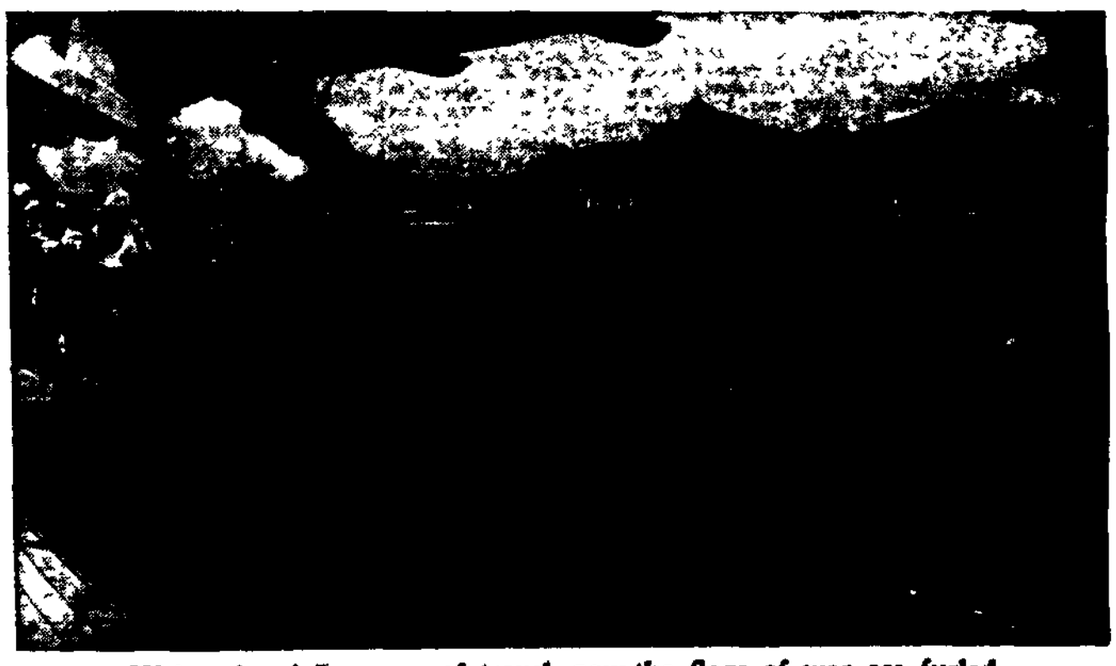
A man can plan...



1. I think of a rolling country, and the farm I'll own some day,
When I swap my wrench for a milking bench, and my lathe for a load of hay!

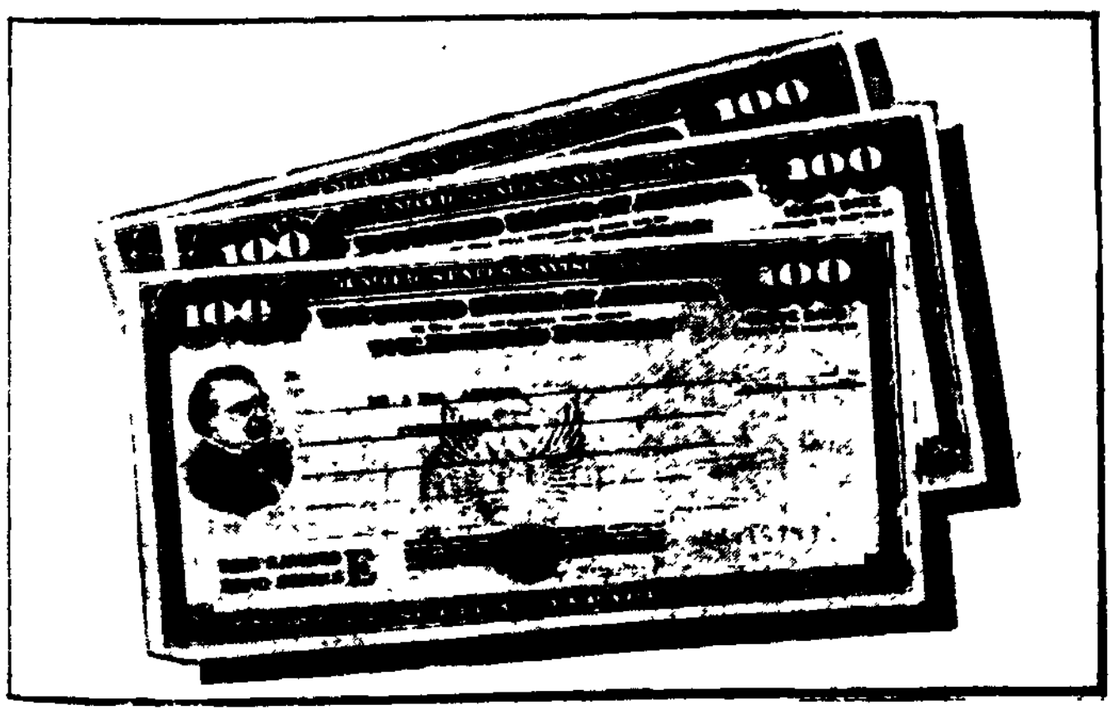
2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free,
I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!



3. We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled,
And each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then,
For with Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!



5. Whatever your plans for the future you'd better buy Bonds by the score,
Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work...
Each three bucks will bring you back four!

So buy 'em and buy 'em and buy 'em, and keep every Bond till it's due,
The more Bonds you buy will be more you've put by
For the day when your plans can come true!

Expediency Is Not Policy

WITHIN a few days it is expected that the Truman administration will proclaim some kind of official statement covering the issue of government-backed wage inflation.

It is further expected that the administration will line up on the side of those who are demanding that the federal government throw its support back of the wage demands being made most aggressively by spokesmen for CIO. Whatever differences there may be between the government's position when it is made known and the position of CIO will be differences of degree—such as the ephemeral difference between so much now and more later and the whole thing now.

The question that will be raised, if this is done, will be whether the administration is expressing and giving effect to an economic policy, or whether it is following the line of least political resistance. Labor unions, acting on the probability that the Truman administration is heir to the Roosevelt administration's technique of playing ball with the side that wields the greater influence at the polls, are bringing pressure politics to bear openly on what is still called collective bargaining.

The main issue in this kind of collective bargaining is not economic, but political. On government's part, questions are not answered according to what is right or wrong, but what is expedient. Whatever hopes some officials have of repressing inflation until production can overcome shortages are set against the hopes of other officials with an eye to forthcoming elections.

50-50 in Argentina

VIEWED from a distance, through heavy fog and under the handicap of skillful camouflage, Argentina still looks encouraging to all who thinks popular government is the best kind of international security against the ravages of authoritarians.

There is one aspect of its political affairs that distinguishes it from Italy, Germany and Japan, which it sometimes seems to resemble. The opposition to the strong-arm politicos who have a corner on the guns and instrumentalities of government does not disappear.

On the contrary, it keeps bobbing up, sometimes with its head bloodied, but always unbowed. It shows no signs of knuckling under to either authoritarian gestures of appeasement, or to gestures of intimidation. It is opposed to the government in being and wants no part of it.

The apparent result of its irrevocable opposition has been to force the government into a series of ludicrous changes of front. What started out to be a military dictatorship became a kind of benevolent despotism for a time. When that didn't work, clubs and pistols were tried again. The latest antic calls for the strong man to parade as a favorite of organized labor (his own organization, of course) and to be seeking election as an exponent of popular government. No one can call the turn in Argentina, but there are signs most of the people aren't being fooled most of the time—yet.

Feet on the Pavement

ONE of the first prewar annoyances to be revived with all the trimmings is the traffic jam. Every sizable American community is rediscovering the city automobile problem. Led by New York, which is admitting a major traffic crisis, cities that have been seeing their future in airplanes are confessing that the present is in automobiles. America's head is in the clouds, but its feet are still on the pavement.

The city traffic problem is substantially the same as it was five years ago—too many vehicles for streets clogged by bad planning and parked cars. The only entirely new element, a minor one, is the mechanical deterioration of the cars; they are more likely to break down than they were five years ago. Many streets have fallen into disrepair. Drivers have drifted into bad habits because of wartime driving practices. Whatever theoretical relief may seem to be forthcoming from the lowered census of automobiles in use is not proving to be of much account in actual effect.

The do-nothing notion so common before the war that city traffic problems would solve themselves became a necessity when new street construction was almost out of the question. But of course the problems did not solve themselves. They are back in all their frenzied hysteria of horn-tooting, lost time and lost tempers. All over the nation, cities are building airports to save transportation time that will be lost in automobile traffic jams.

Though impossible, Russia's claim to a $600,000,000 indemnity from busted Italy was a pretty compliment—as when Uncle Mose was asked if he could change a $20 bill.

How to keep atomic energy a deep, dark secret is no problem at all. Let there be published from time to time another of those "explanations" for popular consumption.

Looking back over the decade just past, it can be said that civilization now has been at the crossroads as long as a ride-thumber with five children.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Strikes Look Worse from Inside.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—The strike situation has looked worse from the inside than the way you have been seeing it in discouraging headline after headline over accounts of vital men being pulled out here and there with great bitterness, mystery and sometimes violence.

The Truman administration has been working behind its doors the past week trying to get a wage policy upon which to base solutions, but has found it hard to do. Labor Secretary Schwellenbach thought we had one in the oil settlement, but after the bricks started falling upon his head for that one, he crawled out of the pile with an aching head, aware, no doubt, he had made a mistake.

After all, if you give the men a 15 per cent increase and then grant them the right to negotiate or arbitrate for another 15 per cent, you have not solved much. Another strike for the remaining 15 per cent could be called at any time. Furthermore such a temporizing surrender was generally labeled unfair. An employer could not win anything, even the right to continue operations, under such terms.

Truman Makes Effort

Then some show was made by Mr. Truman of prolonging the war board after blanketing it into the labor department under Schwellenbach. This was what a puglist would recognize as a hard pass at the empty air, as far as settling anything was concerned. WLB men had tremendous power and prestige during the war, but lost it when Mr. Truman gave top-say to Schwellenbach. It is now beyond redemption.

Both AFL and industry were opposed to it, and still are, because it has functioned largely as a CIO weapon. Through it, the Murray-Hillman crowd had a nice thing going. They would back up the board when they liked its decisions, and strike when they did not. Here again they could not lose.

The latest administration resuscitation was planned by Mr. Truman and Schwellenbach with their heads together alone, and board chairman Garrison indicated they would stay on until Jan. 1. Industry and AFL wanted to get them out of town immediately. The resuscitation will get them out of town in a few weeks.

That was all that amounted to and the question thus arises whether any new board would be a paper front for the same old proposition.

Thus the government has been crowded on all the fronts it erected toward establishing a workable wage policy to carry the current interim until labor and management can get together in the big conference, now set for Nov. 10. The inside of that conference would make a column in itself.

Off To Europe

It should have been held before any of these strikes developed, and was scheduled originally for October, but the labor leaders had to go off to Europe to save the world first.

Then the arrangers for the conference gave the great labor-power fellows, John L. Lewis only one delegate and one vote in this national meeting of industry and labor. Not only this, they imposed upon him an understanding reached among themselves that his solitary delegate could not be on any committees.

The telephone workers, who tied up all communications in the country one day recently just to "test their strength," were at first eager to join the conference, and asked for a place. Later they said they would not participate.

Naturally then, the question has arisen as to how effective the proposed conference can be.

The accumulation of all these inside facts points directly toward continued difficulties—but difficulties may be better than a bad settlement which settles nothing.

The administration seems to me to be playing on the assumption that the longer the question is held open, the better will be the chance of reaching a stabilizing solution. Certainly no former settlement, made in the years of the Roosevelt administration, solved anything. Those were only surrenders to union leadership, made in such a way as to promise another surrender the next time the leaders wanted to start another crisis.

Daily Bible Thought

But devils believe in an intellectual way and remain devils: You must be a convinced partisan and really believe in His teachings and in his wisdom and love. NoNthing but all out commitment will get you the joy of life that makes sin look shabby and dirty: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."—John 3:16.

McKellar, Horse Opera Fan

By Edwin B. Haakinson

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON—Senator Kenneth McKellar (D - Tenn.) has a chance to make some history just by serving out his nearly four-year term as acting vice president.

But he told me he was not interested in that angle although he "thoroughly enjoyed this job."

McKellar, 76, took over the vice presidential duties more than six months ago, when President Truman moved to the White House. He already holds one senate record—dean with 28 years service. To set the record for acting vice president, he must be reelected to the senate next year, then be reelected to the job by the senate.

"I guess I enjoy this because I have always enjoyed work," the senator said. "I have been working since I was seven years old."

Senate veterans say the added responsibilities of vice president have tempered and mellowed McKellar. Before he became president pro tempore and later acting vice president, McKellar was a fiery opponent in many rough and tumble debates.

Says Change Is in Senate

"I have not changed," he said, his eyes glittering. "The senate has changed. It sees my way oftener now."

McKellar has some advantages over vice presidents. He can turn the chair over to a colleague and take part in debate or other activity. He always votes, and a mere vice president votes only in case of a tie.

President Truman invited him to attend cabinet meetings.

"The cabinet meetings are something new to me," he confided. "I have found them extremely interesting after all the time up here."

McKellar also wields powerful influence in the senate legislative machinery. He has been acting chairman of the powerful appropriations committee for several years. Senator Glass (D-Va.), regular chairman, has been absent because of illness. McKellar also is chairman of the post office and post roads committee.

In this latter role he demonstrated some of his oldtime form when he stepped down from the rostrum and explained legislation that will start a $3,000,000,000 road building program.

"It went through unanimously," McKellar recalled as he toyed with his Phi Beta Kappa key.

One Bothersome Point

Only one thing about the vice presidential spot bothers McKellar.

"Some people said I wanted to be president pro tempore so that I could get the extra money as acting vice president," he said. "That's not true. I did not even know the law provided an increase."

McKellar's salary jumped to $15,000 when he became acting vice president, a $5,000 raise. He also acquired the two vice presidential autos, one a long limousine with chauffeur. The vice presidential offices, just off the senate chamber, also are his. But he seldom uses them, preferring his older quarters in the senate office building.

One of the hardest workers in the senate, McKellar seldom attends social affairs now. He does not smoke or drink but relaxes now and then at the bridge table.

"And I like the movies," he chuckled. "Every Saturday I drive out to a neighborhood theater. They have the western shows. I like them with lots of shooting and riding."

Look Out! Scientist at Work

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON—If you saw a group of scientists standing on a rooftop hurling radio tubes at a concrete driveway far below you'd probably say they were wasting time—and tubes.

But it was such antics that helped in the development of the "VT" fuse, the thriller-diller gadget which is credited with helping to turn the tide in the battle of the Bulge and lick the buzz bombs and the kamikazes.

The "VT" is a miniature radio transmitting and receiving set which rides within a shell, bomb or rocket, causing the detonation of the projectile when it comes within pay-off distance of an air or ground target. The target itself, by reflecting the radio waves back to the projectile and causing the triggering of a mechanism, actually brings on its own grief.

When scientists of the Office of Scientific Research and Development began playing with the idea of producing such a "proximity fuse" back in 1940, they were faced with this question:

Is it possible to develop radio vacuum tubes tiny enough to be fitted into the nose of a projectile but rugged enough to withstand the strain of being shot from a gun at a force 20,000 times the force of gravity?

First they mounted a conventional-sized radio vacuum tube in a lead block and took a pot-shot at the block with a .22 caliber rifle. The tube didn't even crack.

Then, armed with several types of miniature tubes, the scientists took to the rooftops at the Carnegie Institution of Washington. They immersed individual tubes in wax and then started smacking them down upon the concrete driveway far below.

The result, declares an official report of the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory, "were encouraging."

Thus encouraged, the laboratory men betook themselves out to a farm in Vienna, Va., set up a home-made smooth-bore "gun" constructed from cold-rolled tubing, and started shooting projectiles containing tiny radio tubes into the Virginia ozone.

The glass withstood the strain and the rest of the tube components were not badly impaired.

From that point on, the investigators knew the trick could be handled. Various industrial firms were set to work producing "rugged" miniature tubes.

MAYBE IT'S THE WRONG ADDRESS

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, Oct. 22, 1935.

Frank Cattelia, 21, of Bucyrus was arrested on a charge of smuggling guns to prisoners in the Crawford county jail. The guns were to have been used in a jailbreak which was thwarted by officers of the sheriff's office.

One hundred and fifty workers took the field in the annual Y. M. C. A. financial drive for a goal of $9,500.

Fred W. Warner was named by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to direct Marion county's part in the nationwide drive for funds to erect a memorial to Will Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Messenger were parents of a daughter born at City hospital. Hospital nurses made much of the event as the child was the first girl born at the hospital since Sept. 13, 13 boys having arrived in the meantime.

Joe E. Grundy, City hospital superintendent, reported hospital receipts at a five-year peak with earnings of $3,118 for September.

John A. Ginder, 68, a retired Erie locomotive engineer, died after a long illness.

John Minoughan, 82, for 30 years an employe of the Huber Manufacturing Co., died at his home at 613 Pearl street. Death also claimed Samuel B. Lewis, 71, a Huber Co. employe for 45 years.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Oct. 22, 1925.

A mantle of light snow fell over northern and central Ohio. Columbus reported a fall of 1½ inches.

Pre-Halloween celebrators stole cushions valued at $10 from the front porch of the home of Police Chief J. W. Thompson.

Life insurance policies held by Marion county residents were figured at $12,000,000 in the report of a survey.

C. B. Beaumont of Cleveland, owner and operator of Marion's first motion picture theater, was here calling on old friends. His theater, known as the Nickelodeon, was located in the Kirchner building north of the railroads on North Main street. It contained 200 folding chairs and the admission price was five cents. Mr. Beaumont recalled that all pictures were virtually of one type, westerns, in which there was plenty of action and gun play. The star performer was William Anderson. Then there were only three producing companies, Essenay, Edison and Vitagraph. Mr. Beaumont said that occasionally he threw in an illustrated song as extra entertainment.

Swiss To Let Out Belts

By The Associated Press

BERNE — Swiss food prospects for the coming year, bleak a few weeks ago, have taken a turn for the better with the release of stored commodities into trade channels.

Materially increased rations for October were based on the arrival in the harbor of Toulon, France, late in September of three Swiss ships laden with overseas commodities. Daily an empty freight train leaves Switzerland to bring back a trainload of wheat and sugar from Toulon.

New Angles on War Crimes

By Raymond Moley

THE long and detailed document which indicts 24 Nazi leaders as war criminals will be one of the landmarks in the long history of law. In some respects, it is to be hoped that it will not see precedents. In others, it represents great progress. In every way, the people who drafted it deserve great credit. For it was not an easy job which faced the four prosecutors.

They came from four countries with wholly different standards of justice. The British and American systems are closely related in origin, but custom and laws have made considerable differences. The Russians and the French follow the distinctly different Continental pattern, but the revolution has brought important modifications in the Soviet. Considering these differences, the joint product is extraordinary.

Approach Is New

The approach to the fixing of responsibility on these war criminals is, moreover, refreshingly new. The war which broke out in 1939 is viewed as the outcome of a criminal conspiracy to commit a crime against peace in whose course specific crimes against established law were committed. The point here is not unlike the indictment of a person for manslaughter, when the only act voluntarily committed is the misdemeanor of driving beyond the speed limit. A killing caused in such a situation, while unpremeditated, nevertheless imposes a large measure of punishment on the person who causes it.

Here is a group of defendants who, in one way or another, promoted the purposes of the fuehrer. The fuehrer intended, by one means or another, to carry on aggression. The movement or conspiracy thus set in motion a series of actions which brought on a war. In that war, illegal acts were performed. Hence, guilt for what happened in the war is attached to all those who participated in the original Nazi movement. It may be that Schacht murdered no prisoners and tortured no Jews. As a matter of fact, he did not even have authority to order such acts. But he helped to promote the cataclysm which included such acts and he helped knowingly and voluntarily. Hence, he shares the guilt.

Must Be Kept In Mind

It is important to keep this in mind, because there are many Americans and Englishmen who view the ex post facto angles of this prosecution with great misgivings. They say that membership in the Nazi movement was not a crime under any law in the beginning. Hence, to call it a criminal conspiracy after the act is a violation of Anglo-American justice. But considering all the evidence, the original Nazi movement was, in fact, an act of aggression against nations with which Germany had bound itself in legal obligations. Hence, the form of indictments has saved, in great measure, the principles of our law.

The indictment also introduces in a new and forceful way the principle that an individual must be held accountable for the acts of an organization which he has joined freely and voluntarily. When a free man joins an organization, he surrenders a part of his freedom to that organization. He should, in justice, be held responsible for what that organization does. He cannot take the cowardly course of hiding behind leaders. For if he were not a follower, they would not be leaders and have the power of leaders. This principle needs more and more emphasis everywhere.

Up in Smoke

Cigaret and tobacco revenues soared to $17,000,000 during July or 88 per cent above the February wartime low of $9,400,000 to reestablish the tobacco tax as one of the major sources of state revenue, the Federation of Tax Administrators reports.

Cigaret and tobacco tax revenues collected by 31 states during 1944 reflected wartime restrictions and showed an average decrease from 1943 of 0.3 per cent. Collections continued to remain low until June, 1945.

Receipts for 1944 totaled $151,600,000 as compared with $152,100,000 in 1943, $138,000,000 in 1942, $122,000,000 in 1941 and $101,300,000 in 1940. In 1940 only 26 states levied the tax.

Highest collections reported in 1944 were New York, $23,000,000; Pennsylvania, $13,600,000; Texas, $12,600,000; Illinois $11,800,000; Ohio, $10,700,000.

What's Wrong with This Picture?

THE most flabbergasting spectacle of the day is Japan playing Little Eva.

Yesterday the Jap was a teeth-baring, wide-eyed, snarling gorilla-man, treating slaughter as a picnic pastime; today he presents the picture of a marcher in a daisy chain, not even resenting that his Emperor has had to become a hot-milquetoast.

Yesterday the Jap was diving to death in a one-man suicide bomb; today he isn't even objecting the will to talk back to movie house ushers.

The transition from "I can lick any man in the place" to "When you want your boots shined just press the button" is baffling the world.

The nation is taking total defeat more calmly than thousands of Democratic communities take the loss of a local election.

The Japs shucked their uniforms with the eagerness of boys eager to take a hot bath. They turned in their weapons with less argument than you would get from an army of Hollywood "extras," and they have adopted "Yes" as a national slogan without batting an eyelash.

They lost their banks, their industry, their social system, their prerogatives and most everything but double feature movies. Yet no bitter squawks have come from an autoist who has just suffered a bent fender.

They have been told their Emperor is just a stooge, they have been ordered to shake off their old ways and act like registered Democrats and they have seen a conquering army take charge of their lives. And shown less protest than comes from many a man when told to stop blocking a subway door.

Are the Nips the most philosophical people of all time? Are they merely the best actors of 1945? Are they still in a coma? Or when lickers are they a race that takes a rain check and calmly awaits the next contest?

Never in history has a warlike nation taken such a shellacking and then put its neck on the block with such gushing resignation and ultra politeness.

Of course, there is one possible explanation. Maybe the Japanese are willing to accept anything rather than another close-up of Nimitz, Halsey, Mitscher and the United States Marines.

• • •

What goes on? Is everything on the level among the Rising Sons of Younowhot, or is all a demonstration in the art of not losing face-faces?

Brown Christmas

It's Christmas in October—
The leaves are gold and brown;
I've decked a box with holly sprigs
And tied the cover down.

The autumn fields are stubble,
The last bright apples glow—
I've placed my gift in Santa's care
And marked it "A. P. O."

Perhaps it is the last time,
Oh, love across the sea . . .
I'm dreaming of white Christmases
And you again with me!

Surplus Gooney

By Truman Twill

For years we've had the notion that pamphlets, magazines, press releases, clippings and so on that we did not have time to read during working hours at the office could be taken home and read there.

Times beyond number, arm-loads of this assorted gooney have been taken home—always with the same result. Something came up unexpectedly. Company dropped in, the plumbing needed repairs, or the head of the house fell asleep and stayed that way all evening.

The next morning one of two things happened. Either the stuff was carted back to the office, or the lady of the house set it aside for future reference. The latter was ordered after discovering it in with the waste paper during salvage drives. A lot of things were learned about what happens to stuff when fathers began to help their kids tie up waste paper to win the war.

Thus it came about that in the Twillery on a recent evening a three-foot pile of documents was pointed out with the observation that fall housecleaning was under way and patience had run out. The pile represented the take-home surplus of approximately two months. (There was a slight slump in the flow of this sort of mental breakfast food during the war, but lately it has been picking up.)

There was no time that night to pick and choose and no time to read; it was radio-listening night. So with scarcely a twinge of conscience, the whole pile was carried to the basement and dumped in with the rest of the waste paper. The point is, no one ever will be the sadder or the wiser. It was just that much time saved, net and no strings attached. We might have learned something we didn't know before but we already know so many things we didn't know before that it would take 50 years just to make sense out of the existing confusion.

The real point of all this is the brief cases. We have been taking home the surplus in our pockets, under our arm and sometimes in the crown of our hat and carrying it back the same way. But we notice that most men carry brief cases. We do not know what they really carry inside them, except their lunch and a spare shirt, but we have a good idea. They are taking home surplus gooney from the office. Some of them are taking it back the next day because they haven't the nerve to throw it away. Go ahead, boys, no one will ever know! And they say Uncle Sam still needs more waste paper.

Packard Brings Out Models for 1946

Production of its 1946 models was unveiled in Detroit this week by the Packard Motor Car Co. before its Dealer Advisory Council, which was told that first public showings of the new cars will be made at regional dealer meetings scheduled in seven cities for early November. Packard distributor in Marion is the Smith Motor Sales of 131 North Prospect street, operated by Francis G. Smith.

Sixty-eight mechanical and design changes are incorporated in the 1946 Packards, which follow the low, streamlined lines of the company's prewar Clipper model with its fade-away fenders and other fresh styling notes.

Functional design of the Clipper is retained and new sparkle and more powerful exterior appearance are gained with a new styled radiator grille, lower radiator emblem, and more massive sideguard bumper treatment. Eye appeal of the cars' interiors is further enhanced by new fabrics, and other modern design touches that heighten the flash of interior newness.

Patterned to minimize driving fatigue in both city and country motoring, and keep turning radius short for easy parking, the steering gear is of the worm and triple tooth design. The roller is mounted on a double row of needle bearings extending the complete width of the roller, and the worm operates on two tapered roller bearings.

The improved crankshaft bearing consists of a steel shell with a copper-nickel matrix impregnated with a special babbit bearing material. New to the industry is a coil - spring - expanded oil-control piston ring, specifically designed to give uniform radial pressure on the cylinder wall and to elliminate clogging of oil slots forcibly revealed by wartime driving and now a distinct improvement for postwar use.

Initial car production, the Packard president said, will concentrate on Clipper Eight four-door sedans, with other models and body styles following as materials become more readily available, and output climbs toward the company's goal of 200,000 cars annually.

Baptist Pastor Talks at Green Camp School

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP — Rev. Lester R. Kidd, Baptist pastor, talked at chapel services of Green Camp school Friday. The prelude was played by Norman Roettger Jr. The high school mixed quartet sang. Scripture was read by Bob Weston. Ethel Schirmer read a paper, and a song was sung by Arlene McNeil and Don Green.

At a previous chapel session Rev. F. Melvin Wentz, Methodist pastor, talked. Louise Long played the prelude. Scripture was read by George Ruth. The girls' trio, Dolores Alexander, Arlene McNeil and Joan Robbins sang. Remarks were made by Orval L. Ulry, superintendent.

Labor Board Order Affects Osgood Co.

One of the last directive orders issued by the fifth regional labor board under its wartime power affected the Osgood company of Marion. The Associated Press reported in a dispatch from Cleveland today.

The Osgood order, affecting 250 AFL International Molders and Foundry Workers established pay rates in 14 job classifications and provided that resulting increases be retroactive to Feb. 13, 1945.

New Plan Pays Family Hospital Bill

Protects You or Entire Family for Sickness, Accident and Childbirth

Includes hospital room, surgeon fees, medicine, X-rays, etc.

Information Free

A new low-cost plan that pays cash for your hospital expenses has now been provided in a new kind of family insurance policy created by the well-known Northern Mutual Casualty Co. As this policy provides, your entire family is covered for hospitalization due to sickness, accident and childbirth.

45 Days in Hospital

According to the liberal provisions of this new plan, you get the following benefits: (1) cash for room and board, up to forty-five days for each member of the family in the given year; (2) Cash to pay for the various hospital extra charges, such as operating room fee, X-rays, anesthetic, medicines, ambulance service, etc. (3) Cash to help pay the surgeon fees. There are many other benefits which make this Northern Mutual policy the most liberal hospital protection ever devised.

No Medical Examination

No medical examination is required. And all the members of your immediate family (ages up to 65) are protected under a single policy, on which you pay one premium each month. In the case of the average family, this premium amounts to only a few cents a day.

Old Established Company

This policy is backed by an old established Company which has faithfully served Policy Holders from coast to coast for many years. As provided in this policy, you are paid cash for hospital expenses whether the disability occurs at home or at work. And you are not limited to any certain hospital. The money is paid to you. So you pick the hospital, anywhere in the U. S. or Canada. You are provided with an identification card which furnishes the hospital satisfactory evidence of your financial responsibility.

Includes Childbirth Many Extra Benefits

Note to All Sweater Salesmen: Make Island of Bali Next Stop

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

DENPASAR, BALI—The island of Bali is just one big [illegible] of the Six Seas.

American sweater girls wouldn't make the grade out here because of the competition. They don't bother to wear sweaters in Bali.

When you first come to Bali you have the uneasy feeling that you've walked into the middle of a burlesque show. That's because people in the western world are reared with the idea that the primary [illegible] of the female body is something to be displayed mainly in art galleries, night clubrooms and maternity wards.

In this sun-burned, carefree island in the Dutch East Indies, however, bare bosoms are more common than bare feet, but after a few days are hardly more interesting.

Hal Boyle

You fall into the viewpoint of the natives themselves, that after all there isn't anything permanently startling about the human body nude or clothed.

Before we stopped here en route to Australia our 4-engine crew was eager-eyed with anticipation. The newsmen rated to play it cool as on all previous game trips, but in this case they were to encounter feminine charms instead of manly beards.

Beaver! Beaver!

We hadn't gone a quarter of a mile from the airfield until we spied a dignified, middle-aged Balinese woman walking along the roadside with a basket on her head, but bare to the waist.

Everybody saw her at once.

"Beaver! Beaver!" they shouted. At this strange outcry as the truck swept past the native lady fastened her gaze, not from one side of her mouth to the other and smiled at us through stained teeth in pleasant astonishment.

After that the "beavers" came thick and fast. When we reached our hotel and compared tallies I was high man.

Balinese girls are light brown in color, delicately featured and have marvelous posture developed by the custom of carrying burdens atop their heads. They are extremely modest.

People Are Shy

One foreign white artist who has spent 14 years in Bali painting native life used one feminine model all those years and never portrayed her in a nude study. He said he would hesitate to embarrass her by asking her to pose without benefit of her half-length sarong.

"These people are unbelievably shy," he said.

His bosom landscapes, however, are extremely popular with visiting tourists. I asked him if he weren't weary of painting them for 14 straight years without a vacation.

"No, I never tire of this subject," he replied, seriously. "I am an artist."

Canton Is Hard Hit By Labor Disputes

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Oct. 22—Nearly half Canton's industrial workers were idle today with Republic Steel Corp.'s alloy division closed by a walkout of CIO railroad employes and Timken Roller Bearing Co.'s four plants shut down by strike of CIO-steelworkers.

The week-long Timken stoppage spread to Columbus last night when workers in the company's plant there launched a sympathy strike. Pickets predicted 2,600 of the 4,000 employes would join the walkout.

The Republic strike, involving 144 intra-plant railroad workers, forced shutdown of all operations, including a blast furnace, six open hearths and 12 electric furnaces, and idled 5,000 employes, company spokesmen reported.

New Machine Is Cause

The workers walked out Saturday because "management violated company-union contract provisions by putting on a new diesel engine without previously notifying the union of the action," local steelworkers president Samuel Stokes declared.

Stokes said the men believed one-man operation of the new engine would be "unsafe."

Company statement described the strike as "illegal" and declared it was called "when the company transferred one man off his job as fireman on a steam locomotive to similar work."

Regarding the new engine, the statement said, "This is the third company-owned diesel in the Canton plant. These, in addition to four Defense Plant Corp. diesels have been operating continuously with one man in the cab. The first diesel was placed in operation in 1939 and there has never been an accident due to the one-man operation."

Offer Settlement

Stokes said the railroad workers voted yesterday to return to their jobs and submit the dispute to arbitration if the company would assign two men to operation of the engine or if management replaced the diesel engine with a steam engine.

Pickets patrolled gates of the Republic plant and Stokes announced a membership meeting would be held tonight to vote on the question of supporting the railroad workers' strike.

The Timken strike, which began last Monday, remained deadlocked. Management has refused to discuss issues with union officials until the men return to work and the men have refused to return until an "understanding" on the issues was reached with the company.

Approximately 8,200 employes were affected by the stoppage. It followed the suspension of a 10-inch mill crew which refused to work shorthanded. But the dispute also involved scheduling of maintenance men for Saturday and Sunday work.

Revival Services At Calvary Church Open

Opening service of a revival effort at Calvary Evangelical church was held Sunday night with Rev. E. E. Nietz, district superintendent, as the evangelist. Large attendance and interest was reported by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Faulkner, and announcement was made that prayer services will be held each night at 7, a half hour preceding the revival service instead of an hour, as announced previously.

Rev. Nietz spoke on the seventh chapter of the book of Second Corinthians, a call of the people to repentance and declared that only as persons yielded themselves to God and brought others could there be a real spiritual awakening. A quartet composed of Charles Feaver, Elmer Harruff, Paul Zachman and Leroy Stull sang. Meetings will continue each night this week at 7:30 and special music will be presented at each service.

Man Arrested in Raid Reports Burglary

Charles Warner of 262 Senate street reported to city police at 3:14 a. m. today that the front door of his home was forced open and a wrist watch and money, total value of which was $59, taken from a locked trunk that had been pried open. Warner was one of the men arrested during the liquor raids Sunday morning and the theft was believed to have occurred, according to police, while he was away from the house.

CONGRESS

Arnold, head of the Air Forces, have endorsed it enthusiastically.

Hull hopes to get a slow-down in congress soon.

"This bill goes to the fundamentals, senators," he said. "We should devote this issue before going ahead with other military legislation."

Congress tackled today also with other big problems like atomic energy, labor legislation and the Pearl Harbor probe.

A lot was going on. For instance:

Atomic energy — The senate strove to move its own intra-mural squabble. Several committees want the important job of dealing with matters atomic.

A measure due for floor consideration today, by Democratic Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, might end the fight.

This bill would create a special senate committee of five Democrats and four Republicans. McMahon, as author, may become chairman if his bill goes over. Its approval, at any rate, would clear senate decks for action on atomic policies.

Universal training — President Truman goes to the capitol tomorrow to deliver his views in person at a joint house-senate session.

Pearl Harbor—When shall the new house-senate committee investigating the Dec. 7, 1941, disaster, make a report? A fight brews on this.

The committee now is under instruction by congress to make its findings known by Jan. 3, 1946. Some say it can't do the job by then. Others in congress say a six-month extension, as has been suggested, would be really "stalling."

Labor—A new plan for curbing strikes came from Rep. Ramspeck, Georgian who carries the title, "Democratic whip" in the house.

Ramspeck proposed legislation to outlaw strikes during periods set aside for collective bargaining. It would also ban strikes during deliberation of fact-finding boards, which would frame recommended settlements where collective bargaining had failed.

Senator Ellender had a different idea. If congress sidetracked labor questions for half a year, he said, maybe workers and employers would work out their troubles themselves.

Other Issues

1. Free press: House Republicans had recommended giving relief funds abroad only to nations exercising freedom of the press. Now they've modified their plan to so restrict a new money allotment. The new version would withhold funds from any nation hampering American newsmen.

2. Subversives: The house committee investigating unAmerican activities is under fire of those who want the committee abolished. Reps. Patterson, Democrat of California, and Hook, Democrat of Michigan, leaders of the move, say a proposed investigation of news analysts by the committee is going too far. They say it would be an attack on "freedom of speech."

3. Rationing: Senator Stewart, Democrat of Tennessee, commented "we have such a large supply of meat and butter that it is, figuratively, running out of our ears." He said food control officials would be asked to furnish facts on further controlling these items at hearings beginning today.

4. War's end: Hearings get under way today by a house judiciary subcommittee to set an official termination date. It's important because so many wartime powers are hinged to the date.

emergency of the resistance-born Popular Republican Movement (MRP), as a potent factor in French politics. Socialistically inclined, the MRP is headed by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who is considered close to deGaulle.

Two branches of the socialists coalesced into a single group and also clinched 134 seats.

The Communists — before the election considered the dominant political group—were assured of 131 seats.

DeGaulle won electoral endorsement all down the line. Sixteen of his present "council of ministers" sought election to the assembly and 15 were victorious.

DeGaulle himself and four other ministers did not seek election to assembly posts.

Government statistics indicated that between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 persons voted in the national elections—the first in which women were eligible.

tempt to step aside from under responsibility for supporting Japanese militarists in the past.

Revise School System

Allied headquarters today ordered the Japanese educational system revamped. Japanese teaching, henceforth, the supreme headquarters ruled, shall concentrate on peaceful pursuits, eliminating military drill, and other trappings of the militarist regime.

In answer to the request last week of some 4,000 employes of the newspaper Asahi that the owners step aside as disciples of the old regime and let the employes take over, the proprietors today said in effect, "nothing doing."

Pres. Nagataka Murayama said it was not his understanding of democracy that men need be pushed out of the company they had built by persons who had no interest in it.

Konoye, who was premier when Japan opened its war on China in 1937 already had said that one question to be pondered in remaking the constitution was a provision for abdication of an emperor.

Several Japanese higherups have said that in their opinion Hirohito has no intention to abdicate, but that he was aware of worldwide discussion of the possibility that he might step down in favor of the crown prince.

Konoye said in two recent interviews with MacArthur he had explained his official activities since 1937, and the Allied commander had said "in a general way that I should lead a liberal movement in Japan."

"General MacArthur opened the conversation with a very determined statement that the constitution needed liberalizing," Konoye said, "and then suggested that I take the lead in such a movement."

Hirohito Issues Order

The prince said he reported MacArthur's wishes to the emperor, and Hirohito commanded him to undertake the constitutional revision. American officials will be kept informed of all details of the revision, which is expected to be in draft form by November, he added.

Konoye blamed the diet and the senior statesmen for mistakes of Japan.

"The diet lost touch with the people and came under the influence of groups which used it for their owner ends," he said.

Revision of the constitution would strengthen the diet by giving it specific control over the budget, making the government responsible to it as well as to the emperor, Konoye said.

Domei news agency said the Japanese socialist party newly formed by the Nipponese Christian leader, Dr. Tokoyohiko Kagawa and others, has proclaimed a 39-point platform demanding industrial and farm labor reforms.

The White House announced today Stacy had agreed to serve at the meeting, starting Nov. 5, at which a new understanding between management and labor will be sought.

Ex-Soldier Visiting Here Helped in Capture of Franz Von Papen

Herbert Stubner of Chicago, now visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bell of 536 North State street, was one of a patrol of seven who helped capture Franz Von Papen, Nazi diplomat and wartime ambassador to Turkey, last April near Storckhausen, Germany, Stubner, 27, told today that at that time he was a sergeant with the 17th Airborne division of 194th Glider Infantry. As of Sept. 23, he became a "master" and after spending a couple days with his family he came here to visit Miss Rose Fern Bell whom he met more than a year ago.

Stubner said today that it was learned through Von Papen's son that his father and a son-in-law, Von Stockhausen, a member of Hitler's staff, were at a hunting lodge some 25 miles south of Hamm, Germany. The son had been disabled during the Russian campaign.

Assigned To Patrol.

Stubner told of being assigned to a patrol to surround the hunting lodge. When they arrived at the lodge proper they found the son-in-law sitting on the porch. Von Papen and various members of his family were inside eating lunch. Some of the patrol went through the windows of the lodge to make certain that the men didn't escape, but Stubner said there was no attempt to escape.

Although there was a pistol lying on the table near Von Papen's arm, a rifle behind him, and a gun taken from Von Stockhausen, there were no shots necessary for the capture.

The entire family spoke perfect English, Stubner remembered, and the Americans were invited to have something to eat. Von Papen himself protested that he "had done nothing and was merely waiting for you to come and get me."

Stubner said that he and another of the patrol were able to understand German and thus knew when one of the daughters spoke to Von Papen as he was being taken away under guard, saying that she didn't trust the Americans and wished that her husband could remain. Stubner said that Von Papen was a "distinguished looking old gent" but that he and many others would be disappointed if he doesn't get the noose. After all, if they let him go all our job would be in vain.

The captured Nazis were returned by the patrol together with several members of the SS and regular German Army troopers who had been captured in the woods surrounding the lodge after being turned over to the company officer in command. Stubner said he then continued on with the armed combat in that section for six days.

Mr. Stubner first met Miss Bell in February of 1944 when he came to Marion to visit a friend, Ken Niles of 776 East Marx street with whom he had become acquainted in camp. He met Miss Bell while she was on duty at a desk clerk at Harding Hotel and since that time he has kept in touch with her. He said today that things were progressing and he hoped it would be definite by December." He added "maybe Santa Claus will be good to me."

ing ceased when the government announced it was not opposed to the Andinos, a western military clique which has dominated national politics for a century.

A small force loyal to deposed President Isaas Medina Y. Angarita still held out in the southeastern section of Caracas but junta leaders predicted its speedy liquidation.

The new government promised "fair and speedy trials" for Medina and Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras, whom revolutionary leaders accused of malfeasance of public funds.

Ruiz Pineda also announced the new government had abolished press censorship for the first time in Venezuela's modern history, started reorganization of the police force, and would begin preparation of a new election law.

He said the national assembly would draft a new constitution to provide a universal secret ballot and would meet in April to set a date for a general election.

(The first travelers to reach the United States from Venezuela since the revolution began arrived by plane at Miami, Fla., last night. (Clark Brown, Allentown, Pa., business man, said reports were current before he left that "between 2,000 and 9,000" persons were killed in the fighting.)

Oil May Flavor Promises of New Venezuelan Junta

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Venezuela's revolutionary junta, claiming control of the country after a short but bitter upheaval, today inaugurated a new government which is pledged to democracy under leadership of Romulo Betancourt, one-time Communist who resigned from the party and renounced the creed.

The youthful Betancourt (he is 37) and is a former newspaper columnist) has promised a new constitution which will provide a universal secret ballot, and a meeting of the national assembly in April to fix a date for an election. He says that Venezuela will stand by hemispheric unity, and will respect the rights of foreigners and their investments. He has announced abolishment of the aged press censorship, which this writer has encountered to his sorrow.

D. Mackenzie

Well, Senor Betancourt has placed the pudding before us. However, the proof will be in the eating, and while we don't question its goodness, we will sample it before passing judgment.

When we speak of Venezuela we think of petroleum, for that great country possesses so much oil that it ranks third in world production, next to America and Russia. The nation has been fairly floating on it for many years, since it is the biggest producer of government revenue.

Now production of this liquid gold is in the hands of foreign interests who have been granted concessions. United States companies hold by far the greatest concessions, with the Dutch second and British third. So any revolutionary change of government in Caracas is of vast moment to big oil business in these foreign countries.

For this reason the American and other foreign oil interests will breathe easier because of Senor Betancourt's promise that the new government will respect the contracts made by the previous regime. Untold millions of dollars have been sunk by the concessioners in the development of the oil fields—some of them in the midst of dense jungles and others in the region of Lake Maracaibo.

But of course the granting of these concessions long has been a bone of contention in Venezuela, some political leaders maintaining that all rights should be retained by the country.

There are many points about the revolution still to be clarified. The main issue, one judges, lay in the charge by the revolutionists that the now deposed President Isaas Medina Y. Angarita was scheming to establish a dictatorship. Anyway, he is under arrest along with his predecessor, General Lopez Contreras, both of whom face trial.

Our Price Cards Are for Your Protection . . .

At the Hughes Funeral Home you will find that every casket has a price card showing the cost for the complete funeral when that casket is used.

This is for your protection. It enables the family to select whatever pleases them and to know at the time just what the cost will be. It places the selection of funeral merchandise on the same basis as the purchase of any ordinary commodity.

Our patrons have expressed appreciation of this open and straightforward method of placing cost entirely in their own hands.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis
Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.
No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)
